This category celebrates teams working together, utilising skills/tools from different companies to overcome an industry challenge or identify new exciting insight.

Judges will be looking for examples of different teams coming together- not teams within the same company or where you would naturally expect a collaborative approach (your clients for instance). We want to hear about collaboration beyond the day job, we want to be inspired and surprised.

It could be the nature of the teams collaborating that is unique – or the way that they are working together. Or it could be how the research is being used that marks a project out as being worthy of our Best Collaboration award.
