This update is for those interested in posts made by the Truth Social account @q.

I'd like to remind those who are following that Q has previously stated he does not communicate with anyone outside of his board.

Until we receive confirmation from Q on his board or from someone else on the team, it is impossible to say that the person posting on Truth Social is Q.

However, Truth Social's CEO, Devin Nunes has interacted with the account and follows them. Last night, the account continued to interact with people close to President Trump.

At 8:59 last night, Kash Patel posted on his verified Truth Social account that he was having a beer with @q. Note, the left elbow of someone is visible in the image posted by Kash. The implication is that this is Q.

Four minutes later, at 9:03, @q reposted Kash's message.

40 minutes later, at 9:43, @q responded to Kash's post with a photo of his own that appears to show Kash holding a glass of beer.

10 minutes later, at 9:53, @q posted the image again with the same text.

It happens that Kash Patel is staying in Orlando, Florida. He is a guest speaker at CPAC this weekend. A post from yesterday shows a photo of him with his parents and President Trump at Mar-a-Lago.

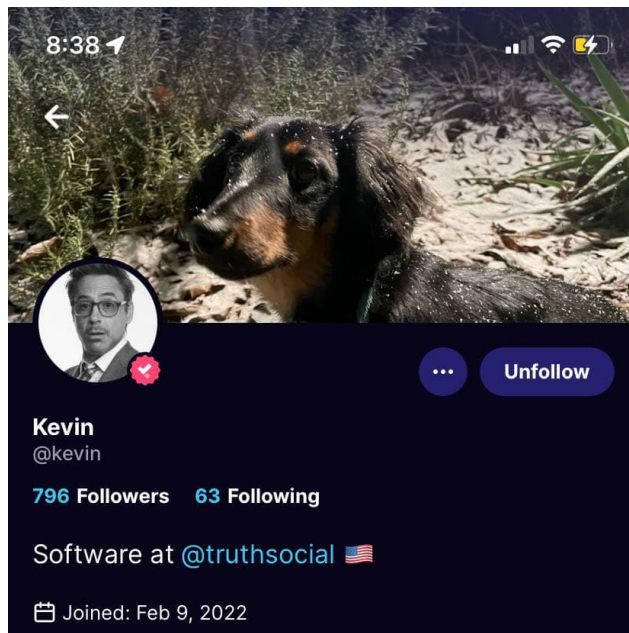

Pepe Lives Matter noted the flannel shirt on the person in Kash's photo. A software developer for Truth Social @Kevin responded.

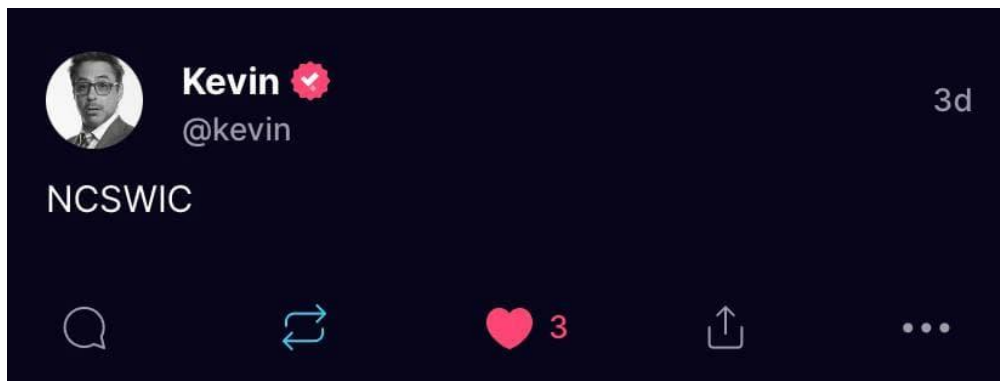

In honor of @q we should all wear flannel tomorrow.
It's time to get sexy.

replying to @PepeLivesMatter, @q
I have enough flannel to make this happen.

An account anon_fa_mous asked people to re-truth if they believed @q is Q.
