PARLIAMENT SQUARE

CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

July 2019

In the most recent update from the developer of Parliament Square, we have been informed that the team are now being set up on site in preparation to commence construction works.

A full schedule has been put in place, but first to commence is the bulk dig. This will involve removing, adding and moving rock and soil around the site to achieve a suitable height for construction.

Shortly after this will be the piling with the contiguous walls. This is a deep foundation as part of the groundworks which will help form a watertight retaining wall.

The main groundworks package will then follow, and the reinforced concrete frame is scheduled for installation in the weeks ahead.

Images of the commencing work will be provided in the next construction update.
