2) On October 25th, 2019, the Washington Post published a report claiming that 195 nations were unprepared for a pandemic.

Joe Biden retweeted the report and said the U.S. was unprepared.

3) Joe's response begs the question—did he know the pandemic was coming?

4) In his latest hit piece, Mike Rothschild whines about the influence Q has had on church gatherings.

The QAnon conspiracy has always pulled elements from religion and Christianity. Now Omega Kingdom Ministries aims to be the first QAnon church.

5) The New York Times continues their assault on Q with a podcast that tries to link Q to acts of violence.

The internet has connected us in ways unimaginable. But the QAnon community — united in the belief that the world is run by a criminal elite — shows the dangers of that power. Listen to “Rabbit Hole” with @kevinroose.

7) Attempts to smear Q demonstrate how terrified the media are of our growing influence on the public narrative.

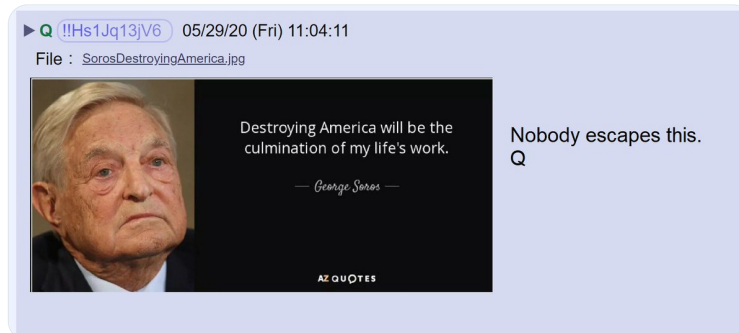

8) The media (and individuals who do not understand Q) often describe Q not by what they understand about Q's posts, but by observations they make about people who follow Q.

9) The press doesn't generally report on the content of Q's posts. (In the few cases where they do, they infer the wrong meaning.) They prefer to highlight the odd behavior of followers (and occasionally, the criminal behavior of non-followers that they think may be followers).

10) An assessment of Q that describes the behavior of followers is of no real value. The only practical way to learn about Q is to read his posts, do the required research, and come to your own conclusions.

11) George Soros is the puppet master behind the attempts by politicians, the media and activist groups to destroy America.

12) No matter how powerful a person might be, nobody who has perpetrated crimes against the public will escape the coming storm.

Nobody escapes this. NOBODY.

13) Those in charge of the removal of corruption have a special place picked out for George Soros.

We have a special place picked out for GS.
Really special.

14) People like George Soros, Hillary Clinton, and Barack Obama can't be tried in a courtroom by a DC jury because they would not be found guilty.

A different plan is in place to carry out their prosecution.

Note the last drops on the other board.
Think logically.
Refer to past crumbs.
YOU HAVE MORE THAN YOU KNOW.
Do you expect HRC, GS, Hussein, etc to stand in a PUBLIC courtroom w/ potential crooked judges and tainted 'liberal' juries?
How do you defuse a bomb?
Knowledge of which wires/strings to cut?

Q

15) Nobody escapes this.

16) John Ratcliffe, the Director of National Intelligence issued a statement concerning the declassification of both transcripts and summaries of phone calls between Russian Ambassador Kislyak and incoming Trump National Security Adviser General Flynn.

The image shows a screenshot of a tweet from the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (@ODNIgov). The tweet is titled "DNI Ratcliffe issues statement on declassification of transcripts" and includes a link to a statement. The statement text is as follows:

“As I stated throughout the confirmation process, transparency is vital to allowing the American people to have confidence in the Intelligence Community.

“As the Director of National Intelligence, it is my obligation to review declassification requests with the overarching priority of protecting sources and methods, while also providing transparency whenever possible. Accordingly, today the Office of the Director of National Intelligence declassified transcripts concerning Lt. Gen. Michael Flynn.”

20) Summary of the call between Ambassador Kislyak and General Flynn on December 29th, 2016.

21) The FBI investigated Gen Flynn, ostensibly for a Logan Act violation because he discussed sanctions.

Flynn's only concern was that if Russia retaliated for the removal of Russian diplomats, it should be reciprocal and not a move leading to an escalation of hostilities.

FLYNN: We don't need to, we don't need that right now, we need to – we need cool heads to prevail, and uh, and we need to be very steady about what we're going to do because we have absolutely a common uh, threat in the Middle East right now

KISLYAK: We agree.

FLYNN: We have to eliminate this common threat.

KISLYAK: We agree. One of the problems among the measures that have been announced today is that now FSB and GRU are sanctions, are sanctioned, and I ask myself, uh, does it mean that the United States isn't willing to work on terrorist threats?

FLYNN: Yeah, yeah.

KISLYAK: Because that's the people who are exactly, uh, fighting the terrorists.

FLYNN: Yeah, yeah, yep.

KISLYAK: So that's something that we have to deal with. But I've heard what you say, and I certainly will try –

FLYNN: Yeah.

KISLYAK: - to get the people in Moscow to understand it.

FLYNN: Yeah.

[Timestamp 08:00]

FLYNN: And please make sure that its uh – the idea is, be – if you, if you have to do something, do something on a reciprocal basis, meaning you know, on a sort of an even basis. Then that, then that is a good message and we'll understand that message. And, and then, we know that we're not going to escalate this thing, where we, where because if we put out – if we send out 30 guys and you send out 60, you know, or you shut down every Embassy, I mean we have to get this to a – let's, let's keep this at a level that uh is, is even-keeled, okay? Is even-keeled. And then what we can do is, when we come in, we can then have a better conversation about where, where we're gonna go, uh, regarding uh, regarding our relationship. And also, basically we have to take these, these enemies on that we have. And we definitely have a common enemy. You have a problem with it, we have a problem with it in this country, and we definitely have a problem with it in the Middle East.
