TOM CLAEREN X REBELLION: A JOURNEY IN THE UAE WITH RITZ-CARLTON

For a period of four weeks, Tom Claeren flew to the Middle East with Rebellion to live a full high-luxury visit to the UAE throughout the multiple luxury hotels of 5-star chain, The Ritz-Carlton, experiencing the UAE's landscape diversity first hand while touring the country from one point to the other: Three emirates, four different hotels and a singular experience in each one of them. This was, Tom Claeren's 4-week journey in the UAE with The Ritz-Carlton and Rebellion.

WEEK 1 | The Ritz-Carlton, Dubai – Where The Journey Begins

To see where Tom Claeren's journey in Dubai begins, we need to head to the popular Walk at JBR, where the Mediterranean meets the Persian Gulf in a luxury resort facing the sea's splendors and a wealth of culinary experiences to delight. Soothing promenades by the beach shores, endless hours of peace, sun and refreshing coconut water, dreamy balcony breakfasts at dawn with exclusive views to the sea and a variety of facilities were key to recharge his energies for the upcoming adventures.

As part of his first week, Tom experienced a glimpse of life in the city, the sea and the desert at its highest, accompanied at all times by his Rebellion watches to keep track of time.

His first experience in the hotel began with Tom and his unbeatable Rebellion 'RE1-2.0' in a day of jet-ski by JBR's shore surrounded by the city's mesmerizing landscape.

If Dubai is known for one thing that's its wide range of luxurious cars riding through the city's streets. Lamborghinis, Ferraris, Aston Martins, etc., an endless list could be made. That's why, Tom couldn't experience the city lifestyle without experiencing their striking carriages. Discovering the city in a Lamborghini is a true definition of living the full Dubai experience.

To close the first week, Tom experienced a first bit of the desert with an exclusive trip to a desert near Dubai where adventure was present at all times. Boogies, quads, wild and sandy landscapes and Rebellion's 'Predator Chrono' highlighted Tom's first contact with the UAE's desert.

WEEK 2 | The Ritz-Carlton, Dubai International Financial Centre – A Unique Sight Of The To Remember

From the beach's calming scenario, Tom stepped into the city lifestyle by lodging into The Ritz-Carlton's luxury hotel in Dubai's International Financial Centre. In one of the best localizations in town, surrounded by the sultriest offers of restaurants, variety of nightlife and with the most impressive views of Dubai's skyscraper skyline, Tom Claeren got to experience the best of both worlds: Dubai's city enchants and Ritz-Carlton DIFC's five-star amenities.

During this week, Tom, as any other visitor to the city, had to get the experience of seeing the world's tallest building: the Burj Khalifa, but not just like any other tourist. In this case, Tom got the chance to experience Dubai's mesmerizing city's skyscraper landscape with its iconic building standing out by the Index Tower's rooftop with Dubai at its feet. An exclusive way of visiting the striking Burj Khalifa.

WEEK 3 | The Ritz-Carlton, Ras Al Khaimah – Life In The Desert: Air Balloons, Boogies and a Break from the City

The real of insight of the true Middle Eastern origins is found in the desert, and on this third week Tom decided to live the country's origins by diving into the Al Wadi desert and staying at The Ritz-Carlton's resort in Al Wadi's desert.

Situated at the north of Dubai in another different Emirate, Al Wadi desert's resort invites guests to connect with the real nature and culture of the country amid the beauty of a protected preserve. Luxury villas inspired by Bedouin architecture, private outdoor pools and breathtaking views make of this the most unbelievable desert experience of them all, not to mention the exciting experiences that come with it.

Exciting and unique boogie and camel rides in the dunes, exquisite lunches with delightful cuisines from around the world, private archery lessons, dreamy balloon rides at dawn and stargazing evening dinners with bonfires in the middle of the desert were part of Tom's adventurous week in Ras al Khaimah's desert, where he got to live the life of the desert in all its luxurious splendor.

WEEK 4 | The Ritz-Carlton, Abu Dhabi – Concluding the Journey in the Capital City

There's never a complete trip to the UAE if you don't visit the UAE's capital city: Abu Dhabi. To conclude his journey through the UAE, Tom drove to the south-east of the UAE to visit the island of Abu Dhabi.

Hosted at The Ritz-Carlton Abu Dhabi, Grand Canal, Tom got to experience in just one place the best of the city and the 5-star hotel: the enchanting sunrises over Al Maqta Creek and the mesmerizing sunsets illuminating the iconic Sheikh Zayed's Grand Mosque while delighting into the delectable dishes of local and international cuisines of the hotel's fine restaurant offer.

As part of anyone's trip to Abu Dhabi, Tom visited the iconic monument of the building to get a glimpse of Islamic culture at Sheikh Zayed's Grand Mosque and wrap up his journey in the UAE.

Just a few minutes away from the hotel's accommodation, this iconic landmark filled with astonishing architecture wonders lies in the heart of the city bringing different people from various cultures around the world together in one place. For this visit, Tom experienced an insight of the mosque's history and culture with Rebellion's 'Predator 2.0' timepiece.

A STEP INTO A HAVEN OF LUXURY

An $8.5 million Modern Classic Villa

Our imagination is all we need to boost and dreams and make them real. This same statement works for every aspect of our life, especially when it comes to Interior Design lovers who are passionate about making the impossible into a reality. Build one of a kind homes and aiming higher with each design.

Every home has a story to tell and hearts to conquer. This one is no different from that.

Prepare to open the gates to a Luxury Modern Classic Villa you need to be thought possible. Until now.

This secluded villa is the first of a series of luxury houses created by Covet House to inspire professionals and design lovers to new heights in this new era.

With 500M2 and an $8.5 million price tag, this mansion in Russia presents elegant bespoke interiors with a modern classic touch, and a perfect balance between statement handcrafted pieces and modern neutral, functional elements.

The result? A very comfortable home fit for the modern luxury lifestyle.

The Entryway to a Luxury Living Room

The entryway has a high-ceiling and reflective surfaces that will provide you a wider feel to the house. Its true play on marble with exquisite and refined touches with the L'Chandelier from Boca do Lobo as the masterpiece that drops from the ceiling with so much class and style. After we catch our breath from the luxurious hall we meet the heart of the house: The Living Room.

The Living Room was designed with every detail, carefully thought out to fulfill a powerful aesthetic, but also a comfortable, contemporary, and high-end setting.

With a view to the perfect snowy field in St. Petersburg, the high ceiling windows provide a source of natural light that fulfills and creates the illusion of a wider space and complements the lighting pieces like the Newton Suspension Lamp by Boca do Lobo. The boiserie in the walls contrasts perfectly with the straight lines in the center table or the Thomson Sofa by Luxxu, being the perfect antitheses between the classic and contemporary approach to the design.

The Kitchen and Dining Room

As we reach the kitchen area it's impossible not to notice its luxury and brilliantly made open space. It's fully equipped with the latest tech and it's both stylish and color neutral. The bright accent of the kitchen is the golden brass details in the lighting accessories, chairs and cabinet. And it gives you the perfect view for the dining room.

In a Luxury Modern Villa like this one, the dining deserved some attention as well and we transformed it into a space where you would want to invite all of your friends and family and have a feast. This sophisticated dining area has a unique dining table that embodies handmade techniques such as wood carving, metal cutting and hammering, and polishing.

The Kids Bedroom

This kid's bedroom was very special to build and to decorate. Kids always have the wildest spirits and the highest of expectations. They dream of adventures and a life full of joy and life. Their bedroom should be a space where they can feel all of that and learn at the same time. As we enter the space we can not be feeling anything else besides amazement.

With the view of the magic snowfield that is happening outside, this bedroom was got natural lighting completed by the floor lamp Graphic Letter by Circu to bring extra sparkle into space. The Bun Van Bed is the star of this large size bedroom. With a custom design specially made for this house, the Bun Van inspired by the iconic 60's camper van Fillmore from the Disney movie "Cars", is produced in fiberglass with chrome-plated finishes and the inside is made of palisander wood veneer, containing several storage compartments, a bed, a TV, desk, mini bar, and a sofa. What more can a child ask for? It has fun and comfort.

After we looked away from the masterpiece we can also notice the Puzzled Bookcase for school tasks that also provides extra storage.

We now give the kids the key to start a new adventure.

Every teen wants privacy and a place where there can relax and forget about everything else that is going on in the world.

This modern bedroom was carefully thought and decorated with the finest materials. Against the wall wood panel and at the center of the bedroom with having the Cloud Bed, with a velvet headboard that is completed by the cloud blue nightstand that provides extra storage and the Diana table lamp is the perfect friend for long night studies or reads. The puzzled bookcase gives a teen the storage and the space he needs to develop new works and to boost his creativity. And can you imagine the good lighting the graphic letter gives for the perfect selfie?

The Master Bedroom and the Closet

The master bedroom always requires a considerable amount of space and a design that stands out from the other bedrooms. This master was designed concise and not bright, so that nothing would interfere with the rest. The dark walls contrast with the light ceiling and floor, just like in the living room, completed by pieces from Luxxu and Rug'Society.

The closet is made of premium wood, with open glass doors and interior lighting, which is very functional and appealing.

The Office

The Office gained any meaning during the pandemic. We wanted this office to be sophisticated and yet a place where you could work for hours and still feel comfortable while seating in Charla Small by Luxxu. You can notice the use of neutral colors and more strict lines in the decoration, the variety of materials and finishes that transpired luxury, professionalism, and most of all a modern-style décor.

“SUSTAINABILITY IS IMPORTANT TO US, WHICH IS WHY WE’VE DECIDED NOT TO FOLLOW THE TRADITIONAL SEASONS, COLLECTIONS, AND TRENDS.”

Bert - One of Gommaire’s three founders

The GOMMAIRE brand

Gommaire is a Belgian brand that was established in January 2015 and is a reflection of the combined ideas and years of experience of Gommaire Cleybergh, Bert Verelst, and Laurent De Greef. Gommaire represents a timeless collection of indoor and outdoor furniture, complemented by an extensive collection of decorative pieces. Each item is instilled with an organic accent that is reflected throughout the brand as a whole. Nearly the entire collection is the outcome of Cleybergh, Verelst, and De Greef’s creative and design talent.

Gommaire – Organic Living is expanding its current collection with new indoor, outdoor, and home decor products. The brand remains true to its methods and high-quality materials in opting for new variations on existing forms. For example, new glassware, woven accessories, and a new shade – authentic grey patine – are being added to the collection, all of which subtly allude to the current collection. New furniture and fabrics will also be making their debut in the outdoor collection.

Gommaire doesn’t follow the traditional pattern where new collections are concerned. The brand represents timeless, contemporary classics that transcend trends. “Sustainability is important to us, which is why we’ve decided not to follow the traditional seasons, collections, and trends. We’re staying true to our own path and our own way of working. That means that this isn’t a spring collection, but rather an impeccably matched addition of new products to the current range,” says Bert, one of Gommaire’s three founders.

A new showroom for professionals

Last spring, when the news arrived that 2020’s major interior design fairs were all being cancelled, Gommaire stepped up and took advantage of the circumstances by giving its Belgian showroom a complete makeover and setting up a brand-new virtual showroom. The ground floor, for example, is now exclusively dedicated to the Decoration collection. One of the three inspirational dynamos behind the brand, Gommaire, personally finished each of the round pedestals by hand to ensure that the showroom items would be showcased to their full advantage. The entire top floor was cleared out to make room for the indoor and outdoor collections currently on display. Professional customers, interior designers, and project developers can make an appointment to visit and discover the full collection by themselves or accompanied by their clients.

SUMMER PENTHOUSE

City of Ibiza

Recently finished, this ravishing Summer Penthouse is located on the island of Ibiza, in the middle of the Mediterranean Sea. A “spot” very famous by the international elite that frequents and enjoys great prestige with regard to the luxury real estatemarket. It couldn't be otherwise -to satisfy the most varied requirements that the Architecture & Interior studio OITOEMPONTO, composed by the duo of designers Artur Miranda and Jacques Bec, was responsible for all the architecture and interior decoration in this project. This duplex apartment is located on the top floor, with stunning views of the blue sea in the heart of historic Ibiza island, in a privileged area about 5 minutes' walk from the city centre and all the nightlife. It is a more reserved part of the island, with a private beach, almost deserted, where several private boats dock.

The owner is a Businessman, sociable and cosmopolitan, who enjoys the nightlife of the city, who regularly invites his friends and family for a drink, dinner or even to have a good time in Ibiza. In the beginning, the apartment consisted of only 1 floor, however the owner also acquired the apartment on the top floor and chose to make an interior connection with a staircase. Thus, two of the existing rooms were removed and a new division of spaces was made. The starting point for this duplex apartment composed of 300m², were the sea views that are evident on both floors and transport us to the interior of a boat.

“You really feel like you are in a boat, a yacht.” — Artur Miranda;

“We really wanted to give the impression “Boat Like” — Jacques Bec

The entrance made from the upper floor is undoubtedly the central point of the house - the Living Room with two columns in white lacquer, high gloss that support two consoles suspended in marble and that reminds us of sailing. The open space Living Room includes 3 different areas: the living area, with 2 magnificent Vladimir Kagan sofas facing the sea; the TV area, with sofas and armchair by Oitoemponto and a Ralph Lauren chair; an entertainment area with a fancy Ralph Lauren Bar, Eero Saarinen Tulip Table and Platner Knoll chairs, making this area very versatile for socializing and even small meals or games. On this floor, too, is one of the suites with dressing room and bathroom entirely covered in polished white marble.

The overlap of all white lacquers and marbles, contrast with Macassar's ebony finished in matte, that gives us a less urban, but super sophisticated feel. To join the two apartments, a spiral staircase was created with two embracing materials, Macassar ebony and white lacquer, both matte. The mirrors multiply the space allied to the double height.

When we descend to the lower floor, the timeless Capri sofa by Johannes Anderson and Berber rugs are the area that precedes the Dining Room. The two columns lined with ebony slats and bronze mirrors, in the middle of the Dining Room were used to support the large suspended table. An Oitoemponto sideboard; Ico Parisi chairs and Serge Mouille lighting. In this area there is an open Kitchen, and on this floor, there is another suite and a social bathroom.

The result is a subtle fusion between the tastes of the owners and the incomparable talent of this Duo of designers who, over 25 years, have created unique spaces, both refined and easy to experience, cheerful and discreet, modern and timeless in homes and villages for a while all over the world from Europe, Asia, Africa and Brazil.

CREATORS OF CARPET ART

Zollanvari International carpets embody the spirit of Persian carpet design and weaving treasured across the world for more than 2,000 years. This profound understanding of the splendour and profusion of the Persian weaving aesthetic informs our carpet production, making it unique and timeless – qualities that have established the Zollanvari name as a global trailblazer in creating carpet art. Our passion has always been for the artistic weavings of the nomadic people of southern Persia, where almost all our collections are woven.

With its exquisite patterns and the finesse of its quality, a Zollanvari carpet captivates and enhances the beauty of its surroundings. The vibrant colours and timeless designs we create combine perfectly with contemporary as well as traditional interiors. When thoughtfully placed, our carpets import a sense of space, vision and form to any setting. Zollanvari's commitment to the creation of superior quality carpets and exclusive designs, at the same time as the preservation of the immense Persian heritage of carpet art, not only has established the brand in the global marketplace as a leader but has inspired us to push the boundaries of carpet design and weaving techniques – from the minimalist development of our tribal Gabbeks to the innovative reinvention of classical patterns seen in our Isfahan Collection. As a result, we have won numerous worldwide accolades for the quality and individuality of our carpets.

Our designer collections have been created in collaboration with distinguished studios in Milan (SoFar SoNear), Vienna (NOV24), Cyprus (Soheila Shayegan) and our design studio in Shiraz. We have found inspiration not only in the Persian carpet heritage but in weaving traditions across the globe – from Pre-Columbian textile art and 'feather work' to Japanese meisen kimonos. We offer most of our designs in custom sizes and colours as well as a bespoke service for designers who wish to produce their own creations for specific projects.

For us, the art of carpet making has always exemplified the expression of a culture – a way of life. Our use of pattern, colour and symbolism have thus been constantly evolving. What sets us apart is the active encouragement we give our weavers to allow their own aesthetic sense to shine through the designs. Individual, expressive and unique luxurious carpets are the result.

IDYLIC WATERFRONT RESIDENCES LAUNCH AT PORTONOVİ, MONTENEGRO

One of the largest ever investments in Montenegro, Portonovi boasts 218 residences for sale and of these 50 residences can be rented whilst on holiday. Prices start from EUR345,000 for these recently completed apartments. In addition to apartments, the new village is home to restaurants, wellness facilities, a beach club, boutique shops, a world class marina and Europe's first One&Only resort and Chenot Espace Wellness Centre due to open in 2021.

Spread across 26 hectares, with 1.8km of coastline, the residential village is interspersed with beautifully manicured gardens, sandy beaches, striking bronze water features and waterfront promenades. Positioned at the entrance of UNESCO World Heritage site Boka Bay, Portonovi, a visionary destination by Azmont Investments, is framed by dramatic mountains rising from the mirror flat Adriatic Sea.

The village sits on historic plains once a former military base. Today, this history is not forgotten with restored artefacts dating back to the 20th Century as well as a 16th Century Church.

Marina Residences

Just metres from the Marina and close to the central square, Portonovi's social hub, sits two five-storey buildings which epitomise the best in marine living.

These finely crafted studios, one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments incorporate modern touches but stay true to the surrounding heritage architecture of Herceg Novi. Designed by architects RTKL and Harper Downie, what brings them to life is their connection with water; each balcony and terrace providing vistas towards the sea while inside, natural materials from wood to metal combine for a sleek look. Materials used throughout feature classic Montenegrin craftsmanship, reflecting the surrounding architecture of the Adriatic coast and nearby old towns.

Apartment sizes are generous, with one-bedroom apartments providing around 80 square metres of contemporary living space indoors and out, while 3-bedroom duplexes boast over 300 square metres of internal living space and an outdoor terrace. Security is meticulous with peace of mind provided by card-controlled gates, video surveillance across the entire village and 24-hour security.

Ahmet Erentok, Chairman of Azmont Investments said: "Portonovi is a unique destination which blends the best of our Montenegrin and Mediterranean culture, lifestyle and heritage. Whether you are a family, savvy investors or professional wanting to explore the best of the Balkans, we've built contemporary homes to suit your lifestyle. As Montenegro marches towards EU membership, foreign and EU-funded investment in the country has flowed. Almost EUR3 billion has been invested in the 10 largest coastal developments, giving this part of Montenegro the moniker “the next French Riviera”. This has caught the attention of high net worth individuals who are attracted to the country’s low corporate tax rate. According to Knight Frank 2019 Wealth Report, the number of UHNWIs in Montenegro is expected to increase by 36.1 per cent over the next four years.

Property transfer tax, inheritance and estate tax are set at a highly competitive 3 per cent. This transfer tax compares very favourably to many other parts of Europe like Portugal where the rate is 6.5 per cent and up to 10 per cent in Spain. Overall, tax regimes in the country are amongst the most competitive in Europe, with a rate of 9 per cent being applied to company profits, capital gains and personal income.

FRENCKENBERGER X VMC CASHMERE METATRON SCARF

When Johnny Depp introduced Terry-Ann and Nathalie from FRENCKENBERGER to Victoria Mary Clarke, wife of Shane MacGowan, at the Zurich Film Festival last year, the two straightforward cashmere girls were captured by Victoria's channelling angel talks. Her inspiring way of looking at life gave a reason for an automatic collaboration between them.

FRENCKENBERGER rising from a Rick Owens background and Victoria's above-earth rock & roll attitude, melted together in the Metatron scarf.

The 160x180 hand woven and screen painted cashmere scarf presents the angel of awakening (70 limited and hand numbered A edition pieces).

Victoria is a believer in angels. She said: "The angels may be real or they may be a figment of my imagination, but the angel images that I paint act like powerful symbols of love and wisdom and joy for me, they lift my spirits and make me feel guided and supported and safe, and it's so abundant that it overflows and I want other people to feel it too. The angel scarves are a tangible, sensual manifestation of the feelings, and a way to spread them around the place so that other people can get a taste of this feeling. I felt the gorgeous softness and lightness of the FRENCKENBERGER cashmere, it seemed completely perfect to combine their fabric with my angel images, so that we have a piece of heaven that you can actually wrap around your head and shoulders like an embrace, which feels so blissful that maybe you even smile at strangers and help them to feel the angel vibe too."

The FRENCKENBERGER x VMC cashmere angel scarf is available from Maxfield LA, Ikram Chicago, SSENSE online, The Corner Berlin, MAX Aspen, Amarees LA and Victoria Mary Clarke Angels.

WHEN BELL & ROSS MEETS BOLLINGER MOTORS

A fortunate encounter built around design

A MECHANICAL WATCH / AN ELECTRIC VEHICLE

Who said tradition could not find some common ground with modernity and technicity? Bell & Ross passionately follows developments in electric cars and considers Bollinger Motors as the SUV standard in this sector.

Known for their precision, functionality, legibility and water-resistance, Bell & Ross has become a benchmark in the world of professional aviation watchmaking. Focusing on these four guiding criteria, its timepieces manifest pure lines and timeless elegance.

Over the years, the brand has forged a philosophy based on an approach - functionalism; a method - the combination of expertise; and a vision - the development of watches for a professional use.

Bollinger Motors, an American automaker of electric vehicles was founded in 2014 in New York City by Robert Bollinger. His idea was to develop a full-size electric off-road vehicle. The designers' first of was a prototype car called B1, presented in 2017. The car reveals a signature feature and an austere design that is distinguished by an angular body covered with a matte varnish and the possibility to remove the rear part of the roof to mark a real utility.

Above all, this utility car was designed to go possibly everywhere. Their generous ground clearance and angle of attack should effectively allow it to navigate in very rough terrain. A promising masterpiece: the BOLLINGER B1 is off-road, squarer than a Rubik's cube, and the first true 4x4 franchiser equipped with a 100% electric motor.

TWO MEN / ONE VISION

Both managing human-size companies, they are also passionate about mechanics and advanced technologies with a sharp functionalist approach and obsessed with pure graphic lines.

When Bruno Belamich – Creative Director and Co-Founder, Bell & Ross – saw the BOLLINGER B1 for the first time, he told himself: “If the BR 03 were a car, this would be this one! The BOLLINGER B1 is to automobile what the BR 03 is to watchmaking: A 100% utility object designed by engineers for extreme thrill-seekers”.

Both brands have an affinity with each other in many ways. They worship details. They envision the same design aspirations and principles. Functionality is key, and minimalism—sacrificing the simply ornamental and superfluous in favor of the essential—is vital. They share a matching radical project formula: 100% function + 0% compromise = 100% capacity. In other words, they each develop their own creations based on a key principle: “Every detail has its own meaning and function.”

Mark Foster - Brand Director, Bollinger Motors to add: “Beautiful instruments. The subtle details, surfaces and textures are incredible. I love the vintage aviation inspiration in Bell & Ross branding. The weight feels solid, substantial, like you could jump from a plane -or a truck, without worrying about it.”

A SPORT UTILITY TRUCK / A SPORT UTILITY INSTRUMENT

This genuine junction is about exploring their flagship and iconic models. Coming from different worlds but certainly looking in the same direction.

Meeting all the same specifications and requirements as a Bell & Ross timepiece, the BOLLINGER B1 displays extreme simplicity on board, equipped with the bare essentials, in an environment dotted with visible screws, like the exterior bodywork giving pride of place to riveted panels ...

The creative vision of Bruno Belamich, which has always driven him to design watches for professional use inspired by aeronautics, has not wavered. Over the years and the various collections, he has cultivated originality in consistency.

ONE square design for TWO radical machines, Bell & Ross and Bollinger Motors are gems of simplicity, robustness and innovation.

Both brands also invade the IN-ROAD territory with their OFF-ROAD offer. Bollinger Motors with their pick-up version, a category that has been making a big comeback, even in town, in recent years. As for Bell & Ross, the brand launched a new Instruments for Urban Explorers, the BR 05...

BRIDGERTON: THE WATCHES THAT WOULD BE WORN ON A MODERN DAY 'PROMENADE'

Watchfinder & Co. predict what watches the Bridgertons, Featheringtons and Co. would choose for themselves today (not a pocket watch in sight... but still a few jewels)

JAEGER-LECOULTRE REVERSO DUO

FRANCK MULLER VANGUARD

Bridgerton has been the talk of 'the ton' since it launched on 25th December - over 63 million households tuned in to watch the Netflix period drama in its first 28 days. Inspired by Anthony Bridgerton's trusty pocket watch and the eclectic mix of characters; pre-owned watch specialist Watchfinder & Co. has put their learned skills to the test to determine what each character would likely wear in 2021. Don't worry no spoilers here, just pure unabridged fantasy!

THE BRIDGERTONS

Anthony Bridgerton | Anthony Bridgerton is a busy man. Juggling the responsibilities of taking over from his father as the head of the Bridgerton family, seeing his sister through her first social season, finding time to call in on his songbird mistress Sienna and still managing to drop by the gentleman's club and take in a few boxing matches is no easy feat. Today, Anthony would rely upon something like the Jaeger-LeCoultre Reverso. With its interchangeable style, thanks to its reversible face, this watch can adapt to any social setting. On top of this the Reverso also keeps to the most accurate time, ensuring Anthony can continue to keep all those plates spinning a little longer. JAEGER-LECOULTRE REVERSO DUO

Benedict Bridgerton | Aspiring artist and all round dreamer, Benedict, is the second eldest of the Bridgerton siblings and yearns for something other than the endless society balls he finds himself attending. Benedict dreams of turning his artistic hobby into a full-fledged career, and soon finds himself looking outside of 'the ton' in order to achieve it. Nowadays Benedict would likely wear something like a Franck Muller Vanguard. A watch brand that has enjoyed its own artistic journey. The Vanguard blends a classic watch case style with modern artistic colours and materials outside the normal canon of watchmaking – a perfect blend of watchmaking and artistry. How perfectly Benedict.

FRANCK MULLER VANGUARD

Colin Bridgerton | The witty and charming Bridgerton brother, Colin, may well have taken a liking to the newest young lady in town but his heart belongs to travel. A Patek Philippe World Time is the obvious watch choice for this aspiring globetrotter – one of the signature complications from the Maison and much sought after by travellers around the world. The World Time allows the wearer to track the local time of 24 capital cities simultaneously, whilst still being quintessentially elegant – much like any other Patek Philippe. It's the indispensable sidekick for any would be grand tourist.

PATEK PHILIPPE WORLD TIME

Daphne Bridgerton | The picture-perfect young debutante who packs a punch! Daphne has been waiting her entire life to make her grand debut on the marriage mart and does so with such aplomb that she is named the diamond of the first water. But there is more to Daphne than meets the eye – beautiful and demure on the outside but Daphne is also smart and determined and strives for absolute perfection... Much like the bejewelled work of the Piaget Altiplano which carries a complex manual movement encased within an exquisite case of white gold and diamonds.

PIAGET ALTIPLANO

Eloise Bridgerton | Certainly the most vocal of the Bridgerton household, Eloise is not one for pomp nor ceremony. Having no interest in following in the footsteps of her sister Daphne, she has an incurable sense of curiosity, a lust for education and has little time for the restrictive gender roles of the period. Eloise would be perfectly paired with a Grand Seiko - a Japanese brand known for throwing two fingers up at the rest of the watch world in the 70's when it fundamentally changed the status quo of the watch industry by introducing new and progressive technology that left many of its peers at the wayside. And whilst this titanium 43.5 MM is technically classified as a men's watch... who is Eloise to be restricted by convention?!

GRAND SEIKO SPRING DRIVE

THE FEATHERINGTONS

Lady Portia Featherington | For Lady Featherington it's all about show. From the brightest dresses to the tightest corsets, Lady Portia Featherington is entirely focused on keeping up with the Joneses and wearing her wealth and style (read: poor credit and broken promises) for the whole world to see! The Hublot diamond set Classic Fusion would be an obvious go-to for posey Portia, given its confident, unrelenting and flashy nature, this diamond encrusted device has the natural born will to dazzle all those who look upon it.

Penelope Featherington | The youngest and perhaps most vicarious member of Featherington family; Penelope is an intelligent girl with a sharp wit and kind heart. She would prefer to quietly sway near the perimeter of any ballroom rather than take centre stage. And whilst she is able to move through most social settings without stirring much attention or fuss, she is not one to be overlooked or underestimated. Penelope's pick is the Jaeger-LeCoultre, ladies Reverso Duetto. This unassuming, but elegant, watch boasts two, interchangeable, dials allowing Penelope to blend in with any setting seamlessly. There really are two sides to every story!

JAEGER-LECOULTRE LADIES REVERSO DUETTO

THE DUKE

The Duke of Hastings - Simon Basset | Rife with scandal, intrigue and glamour, the new Duke of Hastings, one Simon Basset, is the most sought-after bachelor in London. His impeccable appearance, taste and style (although he wears too much black according to Lady Danbury) juxtaposes his distinct lack of interest in his title, society, or taking a wife. A true enigma. He is reserved and keeps his emotions close to his chest, but morally upstanding and values honour.

The obvious watch pick for Simon Basset is a 2020 Rolex Submariner in steel and sleek green ceramic - a watch that is as sought after as it is scarce. Produced in very much finite numbers, the current demand for the modern take on perhaps the most iconic wristwatch ever produced far outstrips its supply, with waiting lists of up to 5 years long...

THE QUEEN

Queen Charlotte | The veritable tastemaker of London society, Queen Charlotte. It's only fitting that a modern day monarch pick something made by the 'Jeweller of Kings, and the King of Jewellers' - Cartier. Exclusivity is the currency of luxury so a limited edition befits Queen Charlotte - perhaps the baroque themed Cartier Tortue minute repeater. Produced in an extremely limited run of just 25 pieces. This classically designed wristwatch, in 18k yellow gold, is a true feat of watchmaking, and with its iconic chiming system it ensures all eyes will be on the owner!

NEW YEAR NEW STYLE

Stylish sisters and Directors of Baker Brothers Diamonds, Lizzie McAuley and Rebecca Church reveal the latest jewellery trends for 2021, with sophisticated solutions to update your look in an instant ...

See in the new year with a new look to make 2021 your most stylish year yet.

While we usually look to update our wardrobes with key designer pieces, you can transform your image with selective, stylish accessories including your jewellery.

Successful sisters Lizzie McAuley and Rebecca Church are the discerning Directors of Bedford-based, bespoke business Baker Brothers Diamonds and share their top trend tips on how you can revitalise your style with some exclusive, elegant, eclectic touches.

For on-trend fashionistas layering necklaces at different lengths is all the rage right now. There are no rules, anything goes when it comes to mixing and matching your gorgeous golds and stunning silvers.

Get the latest look by layering fine chain necklaces like celebrities Holly Willoughby and Cara Delevingne.

Rebecca revealed: “The big trend at the moment is wearing a layered number of necklaces. This could be something quite short to the throat then three longer chains cascading down. Another key look is wearing a number of bracelets all together. They don’t have to match and I like how we’re seeing women wearing different designs all on one wrist.

“The trend is about wearing different jewellery pieces together that reflect your personality; I don’t believe everything has to be an exact match. I love it when people use their imagination and put pieces together.”

As well as stocking luxury designer jewellery brands including Fope, Georg Jensen, Shaun Leane and Marco Bicego, Baker Brothers is Bedfordshire’s exclusive, official Rolex retailer.

The diamonds specialists also offer a complimentary, bespoke design service providing personalised pieces.

Diamond buyer Lizzie said: “Diamond stud earrings, including single stone, halo and flower designs continue to prove popular and another fashion-forward trend is for fine, diamond set thumb rings, which are also being worn on the first finger.”

THE MIDAS TOUCH

2021 sees us taking style notes from our European cousins with the wearing of different golds a big look this year. The trend, influenced by the French and Italians, sees us catching up in the style stakes.

Rebecca said: “Yellow gold is coming back in a big way. People are now doing what the Italians and French have always done, which is wearing all the colours of gold together. Whereas the British have sometimes been more reserved thinking they have to wear all platinum, white gold or yellow gold together.

“Now we are evolving in our tastes and being more European wearing all these different colours of gold. You don’t have to wear all your jewellery in one colour.

“It’s fabulous gold’s making a comeback. We’re seeing women who have platinum engagement rings and wedding rings but they will wear a pair of big yellow gold earrings or a yellow gold chain or gold pendants. A big look for 2021, gold is going to be mixed in with platinum and white gold.”

Pendant £1,250

Diamond Stud Bracelet £5,150

WATCH THIS SPACE

According to Baker Brothers timepiece trends include bigger watches for women, while the designer watch fascination for discerning men increases year on year.

Rebecca added: "Many men are expanding their watch collections, owning several at a time because they want different style watches for different outfits. They mix their brands wearing a £900 Tag Heuer one day and a £20,000 Rolex on another."

On-trend gents are also sporting signet rings engraved with their initials or featuring family crests for that Made In Chelsea inspired look.

CLIO SASKIA: WHERE THE WILD THINGS ARE

“Greetings to the adventurous, the curious, the wonderers, the daredevils, the explorers, the seekers, the collectors, the pioneers, the romantics and the homebirds of paradise.”

Seaweed Drop Earrings

Clio Saskia, designer and maker of fine jewellery inspired by the natural world, announces the launch of her brand new collection: Where The Wild Things Are.

Combining natural textures with intense colours to create vibrant miniature artworks, Clio Saskia defies the conventions of traditional jewellery design and perfects a uniquely detailed and playful aesthetic.

In joining a rich history of animal inspired jewellery across the globe, Clio's dream was to find a new voice and share a fresh perspective on this age-old tradition. Where The Wild Things Are is the answer to that.

“I have always been curious about animals; my childhood memories involve combing through the grass following ant trails, falling in the pond trying to catch a glimpse of an elusive frog or night-time scuba dives exploring hidden coves.

Lizard Ear Climber Blue Sapphire

Vee Ring Teal Stacked Speckled Band

Mimic Poison Frog

This has developed into a deep love and fascination for the natural world. Most importantly I want my jewellery to stay true to the animals that energise it, which means wholeheartedly embracing the weird with the wonderful.”

An emerald-eyed Chameleon Ring with a solid gold tongue tipped with a sapphire ‘fly’ and a Poison Arrow Frog Pin studded with black spinel offer a glimpse into the workings of the designer’s magical mind. Whilst the Seaweed Ring dotted with Australian sapphires and the Double Slink Ring licked with an ombre of sapphires, offer a touch of wild to those with more classic tastes.

“Vivacious and characterful jewellery reveals aspects of our personalities, sharing unspoken elements of identity with the world.” Clio Saskia creations tell the stories of unexpected species discovered deep under the sea and high up in the jungle canopy. Since graduating with a degree in Sculpture from University of the Arts London in 2013, Clio has perfected her carving skills on a miniature level. Being selected as one of 5 participants on the highly respected Setting Out Program 2019-2020 at the Goldsmiths’ Centre has culminated in the launch of Clio Saskia and a fantastical new collection.

All Clio Saskia jewellery is made in a London studio using 100% recycled metals and ethically sourced, Fairtrade gemstones from traceable sources.

AWARD-WINNING CRAFTSMANSHIP

Based in the heart of the historic cathedral city of Canterbury, Justin Richardson and his team of master craftsmen create some of the country's most exclusive and inspiring jewellery and silverware. From the purpose-built workshop at the rear of the gallery, He designs and creates beautiful and bespoke pieces, varying from classic engagement and wedding rings, to unique custom-made cocktail jewellery and dress watches. Justin's team of experienced craftsmen have won numerous awards for their world-class design and craftsmanship. These include awards by the prestigious Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths Craft & Design Council, 'The Jewellery Oscars'. Justin himself also won the 'New Designer of the Year' award shortly after completing his training.

As a bespoke jeweller Justin approaches watch design from a different perspective, combining his expertise in fine jewellery with his passion for watch making. These custom-made watches are created using a unique blend of modern technology and traditional goldsmithing craftsmanship. The Octavo range offers a range of options – 18ct gold or platinum case, diamond set crowns and cases, as well as a choice of quartz, mechanical or automatic Swiss movements. Individual dials can also be commissioned, to add a personal touch to the timepiece, making it completely unique for the wearer.

Justin's inspiration for the Octavo range came from the heyday of the British automotive industry and its classic dashboard instrumentation, and as such the watches are opulent and expressive, advancing British watch design in this smart age and recognising that watches are worn as pieces of jewellery as much as instruments for telling the time.

At the heart of every custom-made piece is the design. Justin combines craftsmanship with his passion for design to create dramatic and beautiful fine jewellery.

The start of the process is to sit down together, discuss and bounce ideas, until a firm brief is established. From there we will meticulously hand paint a series of options from which to choose.

The final design chosen will remain exclusive to you, as commissioned designs are never repeated.

So why compromise, let us custom make something unique and special for you or your loved one.

AUDEMARS PIGUET PRESENTS CAROLINA BUCCI'S K.I.S.S. COLLECTION IN SELECT AP HOUSES AND BOUTIQUES

Swiss Haute Horlogerie manufacturer Audemars Piguet is delighted to announce that jewellery designer Carolina Bucci's collection K.I.S.S. (i.e. Keep It Super Simple) will be available as of November 2020 in the AP Houses of London, Hong Kong and Barcelona as well as in the AP boutiques of Nagoya and Dallas.

Taking inspiration from the beating heart of Audemars Piguet's mechanical watches, this gold bracelet and necklace collection pays tribute to the designer's and Manufacture's long-standing collaboration. Behind these jewellery creations' apparent simplicity, lies a complex ancestral savoir-faire and a desire to push the limits of what gold can do that echo Audemars Piguet's forward-thinking approach to traditional craftsmanship.

Carolina Bucci's K.I.S.S. collection took shape in 2018 when she was working with Audemars Piguet on her limited Royal Oak Frosted Gold edition. Marvelling at the intricacy of mechanical watches, she wondered what would happen if a movement was given the freedom and space to express its complexity and precision on the wrist or around the neck. The result: a collection of gold bracelets, in two different sizes and varied hues, and a matching necklace reinterpreting the aesthetic codes of a mechanical watch's balance spring through a flexible sinuous coil of 18-carat gold. Part of a watch's escapement mechanism, the balance spring controls the oscillation rate of the balance wheel to which it is affixed and thus regulates the speed at which the hands turn.

Going a step further, Carolina Bucci's larger bracelets take inspiration from Audemars Piguet's double balance wheel escapement introduced in 2016. This patented regulating system is composed of two balance wheels and balance springs assembled on the same axis, oscillating in perfect synchrony for improved balance and precision. Visible on both sides of the movement, it is sought after in Haute Horlogerie today for its aesthetic appeal. In tribute to this horological innovation, Carolina Bucci has inserted an additional coil of mismatched colour within the large bracelets' main sinuous spiral of gold.

Keeping it simple, Audemars Piguet will present Carolina Bucci's K.I.S.S. collection in the relaxing atmosphere of its AP Houses in London, Hong Kong and Barcelona. Imagined as a home away from home, this high-end apartment concept invites lovers of the brand to relax, reflect, connect or disconnect in a space where the comfort of home and the warmth of friendship take priority. The collection will also be available in two AP boutiques in Dallas, U.S.A. and Nagoya, Japan.

COMMITTED TO YOUR HEALTH AND WELLBEING

BUSINESS AS UNUSUAL

Protecting your wellbeing while working from home.

For many people, the home is the place they return to, to unburden themselves of the stresses and strains of life.

But during the pandemic many aspects of life have merged, and homes have had to provide not only a safe-haven for individuals and their families, but a functional space to work too.

Recent data from Bupa Global's Executive Wellbeing Index, shows that 38 per cent of high-net-worth individuals plan to continue working flexibly from home, and almost one in five will work from their holiday home.

But mental health experts advise that the blurring of divisions between work and home-life and the impact on wellbeing can be complex.

So, what steps can people take to protect their family space and wellbeing and ensure the 'home-boardroom' is productive and fulfilling?

Create physical and mental boundaries

For Dr Luke James, Bupa Global's Medical Director, it's crucial to create clear boundaries at home: "We hear from many executives that they're not able to turn off, or that they're struggling to concentrate, and it's here where a physical workspace, which can be exited after the working day is over, can really help."

It also means imposing psychological boundaries too, ensuring that both work time and family time are protected. For some, this means shutting down emails and collaborative technologies once the working day is over or reducing non-urgent calls at weekends. For others, preserving lunch breaks and time to exercise is particularly important.

Stay focused on the 'life-work' balance you want

For many, life is not going back to 'business as usual' anytime soon. Bupa Global's research found that more than half of global executives do not plan to return to the same fast pace of life, and many have spent more time focusing on their wellbeing, passions and hobbies.

"This is important for protecting wellbeing and mental health. We also believe that individuals, families and employers must be committed to talking openly about concerns, and to seeking help early," says Dr James.

Get help when you need it

Stigmas around mental health conditions can lead to delays in getting treatment. But early diagnosis can have a positive impact on the long-term prognosis.

Dr James concludes: "At Bupa Global, we recognise that mental health is just as important as physical health and believe in helping people to feel their best and stay that way too. We know that when a family member is struggling with their mental health, it can impact the whole family – that's why we offer extensive mental health cover for individuals and their families."

CHENOT LIFESTYLE BIOMARKERS® AND CHENOT VITALITY INDEX® SET THE STANDARD FOR OPTIMISING HEALTH AND WELLBEING

The Chenot Vitality Index® is a monitoring and marker system, designed to measure vitality status. It lies in the lab-led approach of diagnostics comprised of the Chenot Lifestyle Biomarkers®. By assessing these biomarkers, and the Vitality Index, the impact of lifestyle on the wellbeing and ageing process of an individual is determined.

Dr. George Gaitanos, Chief Operating and Scientific Officer of Chenot explains, "People of the same age may not age at the same rate. Ageing is a complex process resulting from a combination of genetic and lifestyle factors. Quantifying selected physiological, molecular, imaging and performance biomarkers are valuable tools for a highly bespoke, precise approach to preventative health. Driven by in-depth data collection and expert medical consultation, the results from these diagnostics are then used to personalise programmes to the individual Chenot guest. Tailor-made lifestyle plans are then curated to be followed at home to convert them into health wellness outcomes for the body and mind."

In an increasingly stressful world, Chenot shines a light on the importance of investing in mental and physical health - at the earliest possible age - in order to achieve a high performing, healthy and well-balanced life, otherwise referred to as successful ageing.

"Chenot is all about vitality. Vitality is, by definition, the capacity to stay alive with the best possible health and levels of energy. It describes what we all strive for: that particular state when you are full of life and energy – exuberant physical strength, emotional and mental vigour. It's that special feeling that you get when you're in the flow. The flow of life." - Dr. Gaitanos adds.

The complete range of Chenot Lifestyle Biomarkers® are available at Chenot Palace Weggis, the new flagship destination Chenot Palace Weggis in Switzerland, while selected Lifestyle Biomarkers are available at Chenot Espace locations including One&Only Portonovi in Montenegro opening in March 2021.

INTERVIEW WITH DUNCAN WALKER OF FAIRLIE YACHTS

Describe your love of yachting

I started as a toddler, in a small yacht my father built and then spent many teenage summers sailing. After graduating in production engineering I spent time as a professional yachtsman. A summer on an 89ft Fife classic changed my life, then I worked with one of the first major yacht restorations on a significant Fife yacht. Her owner and I then set up Fairlie Yachts and for 20 years I led a skilled team restoring Fife's yachts. In 2011 we built our first modern classic yacht which took the important aesthetic elements from Fife and melded these with modern timber construction techniques, modern keel configurations and rig.

How does William Fife fit into your philosophy?

To me 'Classic' means a standard on which other things are judged. Fife's elegant beautiful yachts epitomise this. His many designs, including two for the Americas Cup, have graceful lines and an unsurpassed attention to detail. Decades of experience with his work has ingrained this into my DNA. Closely liaising with a client and understanding what they want to achieve with a once in a life time investment, I get the chance to turn their dreams into a beautiful reality evoking Fife's superb eye for a line and attention to detail. After many years I still have the passion to create these works of art.

Describe your client relationship

I will work with only one client at a time, to fully understand their requirements and translate these into a design and then a yacht. During the Initial build phase an owner can follow progress via a camera which can be set up in the yard. When the fit-out starts the owner does need to come and sit in the yacht, ensure that their ideas have been translated perfectly and be involved in the many fit out decisions. It can be an intense relationship and is a little like being married!

Why use timber?

I have sailed in timber, steel, aluminium and glass/carbon yachts. The feel and sounds inside a timber yacht at sea, or even at anchor is different from other yachts. As long as timber comes from ecologically sourced areas it has a much lower carbon footprint than other mediums. I select and custom saw a single log to use for all visible joinery work so that everything matches perfectly as it is visible forever.

What was the most enjoyable passage you have had?

I recall an overnight passage in the Fairlie 55. As dawn broke we entered St. Tropez bay and the wind rose, the yacht heeled a little, the helm remained perfectly balanced and we just sped along. We entered the harbour, furled the sails and berthed. I looked back at her and thought 'yessssssssss we got that right'.

Describe your yachts in one sentence

An investment in enduring craftsmanship, elegant beauty and enjoyment allied with superb performance.

THE ESSENCE OF STYLE AND ELEGANCE

With her classic lines, exquisite detailing and race bred performance, a Fairlie yacht uniquely recaptures the dash and elegance of a bygone era.

Yachting's Golden Age a century ago encapsulated the essence of style and elegance, epitomized by the genius of William Fife at Fairlie, Western Scotland. His magnificent cruising yachts and lithe America's Cup challengers set the standards of the day.

Today, Fairlie Yachts breathes new life into William Fife's original designs. Our 21st century yachts, with modern keel configurations recall the classic beauty of his glorious sheer lines. Keeping faith with the exquisite detailing of his intimate accommodations and deck joinery, our new boats make no compromise on aesthetics.

Where as Fife was limited by the technology of his time at Fairlie we make full use of technology and modern materials. This allows us to create swift, comfortable and perfectly balanced vessels that the Master would wholeheartedly applaud.

The perfectly balanced hulls are a joy to steer and more athletic than their predecessors, delivering fast passage times and exciting race performances.

Building a bespoke Fairlie yacht is fulfilling, and sailing one a delight; but it is the living heritage which sets her apart. As you step off and look back at her lying quietly amongst the crowd, she is simply the stand-out boat.

VAAN R4

SUSTAINABLE LUXURY

SAILING YACHT

Vaan Yachts is a new Dutch premium sustainable brand in the yacht building industry. It is based on the idea that luxury and sustainability can go hand in hand by making clever use of technology and materials. Innovative choices in the design of their first model, the 42ft R4, result in a premium yacht that combines luxury with a spectacular sailing experience.

Made for sailors

The R4 is designed for sailors who are looking for more space than a monohull offers. The large, open transom and the helm position at the back connects you to the water that rushes underneath. It gives a spectacular sailing sensation, much like a monohull but without the heeling, and faster.

The cockpit and saloon are at the same level. Friends and family can enjoy all the comfort and luxury, while the helmsperson is at the helm enjoying their company.

The sailing hotel suite

In the evening, when lights are dimming, the saloon provides the ultimate view of the starry night sky. The wrap-around windows give a great sense of freedom and transparency, with all the cosiness you want from a home away from home. Natural materials are used for the interior. This creates a warm and exclusive look and atmosphere as if you are staying in a luxury hotel suite.

Sustainable luxury

The Vaan R4 catamaran is made of circular materials, including recycled aluminium, cork, and plant-based alternatives for leather. Because it is mostly made of recyclable materials, the boat, in turn, is almost completely recyclable itself. The hull, for example, is for more than 60% made of recycled aluminium. This aluminium is recycled from so called 'post-consumer scrap', in this case old window frames, license plates and traffic signs.

"Pleasure cruising has to become more sustainable because your pleasure should never be at the cost of others", says Igor Kluin, founder of Vaan. "And there is no reason why it should. By looking at materials and the design in new ways, you can even make a boat circular. It's just a choice to do so."

Award winning design

The Vaan R4 has been awarded the A'Design Award in the category Yacht Design. The R4 was voted on by a professional jury as one of only seven winners in this category of this prestigious global design award. Vaan focuses exclusively on sailing catamarans and, in addition to the current 42ft R4, the 49ft R5 will also be launched this year and larger models will follow.

CREATING WAVES WITH SUPERYACHT NAUTIQUE

For many superyacht owners and guests, there is nothing better than getting out on the water with the latest tenders and toys. And the super-cool waterski, wakeboard or wakesurf boats from Nautique are certainly turning heads this season.

With more and more Nautiques being delivered onto superyachts every year to be used as multifunctional tenders, Nautique have partnered with Superyacht Tenders and Toys to bring you Superyacht Nautique. Both companies share common values such as exceptionally high-quality products, being committed to delivering unprecedented customer service and being passionate about performance on the water. Lead by Superyacht Tenders and Toys' (SYTT) project manager and resident Nautique guru, Angus Gilmour, Superyacht Nautique is dedicated to the sale and project management of these world class wake boats, making it even easier to get your hands on one.

So just what makes these boats so special?

An All Rounder | Each Nautique in the range offers something slightly different. This enables the team at Superyacht Nautique to match the correct model to the requirements of the client and the amount of space they have available. With settings available to tailor the wave to rider ability, they are also fully set up for towing all inflatables and have plenty of storage to fit boards, skis and towables. Perfect for a fun filled day on the water with the guests.

Select Your Engine | As the superyacht industry strives to become more sustainable, the demand for alternatively fuelled tenders is on the rise. The ability to offer an electric solution to yachts is proving vital. If the new 100% electric configuration (exclusive to the GS22E model) doesn't tick your box, Nautique also offer a Yanmar diesel option for G23 and G25 models. Owners could also opt for one of Nautique's selected gasoline engines, which are some of the most advanced gasoline engines in the marine industry.

Customisation | The Superyacht Nautique team has extensive superyacht and tender project management experience and don't shy away from challenging tender integrations. From a custom lifting point to carbon towers, removable windscreens or a bespoke paint job, chances are they've done it before. As Angus Gilmour says: "Nautique really is leading the charge when it comes to wake and wave boats worldwide. Whether it's the overall quality of the final product or the wave that a Nautique boat produces, they are second to none. Nautique is passionate about evolving the boats to match their clients' requirements. This high-level customisation, coupled with performance, makes Nautique a great fit for the superyacht industry."

THE NEW COMITTI BREVA 35 MOTORBOAT MAKES ITS UK DEBUT THIS WINTER 2020

Entrepreneur & philanthropist Dr Karen Dickens, will be celebrating her new company and dealership Comitti Boats UK & Caribbean this Winter 2020. The team is debuting the next generation of Comitti boats the BREVA 35 with Karen's new boat 'Property of a Lady' delivered to the UK from the Comitti factory based on Lake Como since 1956.

The new company aims to bring these iconic Italian motor boats to a much wider audience, across multiple markets and geographies. "Comitti is a small company in northern Italy and one of the few remaining Italian shipyards with a tradition of building classically designed Italian motor boats," explains Karen. "It was through my initial purchase and semi-bespoke design of a VENEZIA 34 - 'Octopussy' and then building our new Comitti a BREVA 35 - 'Property of a Lady' that I realised I wanted to be directly involved in expanding the reach of Comitti into new markets. We're based down in Lymington and have the boats moored at Bucklers Hard in Beaulieu as we want people to see this all new design and evolution of the Comitti brand for themselves and find out more about the four model families of the Comitti fleet."

Today there are four Comitti model families encapsulating 'not only a boat, a lifestyle': VENEZIA - BREVA - ISOLA - DI LEGNO

The newest model family is the BREVA, offering a contemporary evolution of a classical Italian design that remains timeless and ignores styling trends, available in 35ft or 29ft with other lengths in development.

The classical VENEZIA range offers an iconic design in 5 different lengths (34ft, 31ft, 28ft, 25ft and 22ft) each in 4 different levels of specification: Elegance, Classic Teak/Mahogany and Sport.

The ISOLA family currently available in 33ft with other sizes planned for the future, focuses on an open bow layout & central helm station allowing for full walkaround access to forward and aft dining/sunbathing areas. Specified with either outboards or sterndrives, a fixed stainless steel Bimini makes her an ideal family day boat or when specified with British diesel outboards by COX Power she becomes an incredibly elegant and versatile tender/chase boat.

The DI LEGNO boats; PORTOFINO and SANREMO embody the company's heritage of fine craftsmanship using traditional materials while maintaining that bygone golden era of 1960's Italian wooden boat design.

The Comitti Fleet ranges in price from £425,000 to £120,000 (+VAT and taxes), and with 15 different models in the fleet, Comitti is the perfect brand to satisfy connoisseurs - from day cruisers and pleasure seekers, to Superyacht tenders and those looking for commercial and resort business use.

The Comitti UK & Caribbean team are committed to offering a personal service from start to finish, and throughout ownership. The team are based at the new UK office in The Old Alarm, Quay Hill in Lymington where director James Hart is based. James has worked in the marine industry from building Bluewater Sailing Yachts in Southampton to superyacht charters in Monaco after working with luxury British brands Aston Martin and Holland & Holland.

The bespoke design features and choices available are particularly personal to Karen who has sought out external design specialists that offer the same quality, craftsmanship and attention to detail that the boats offer themselves - and just like Comitti boats, Karen uses all these specialists herself so can attest to the quality.

LAMBORGHINI LONDON

CELEBRATES DELIVERY OF TWO RARE LAMBORGHINI SIÁNS

The Sián is the most powerful and fastest accelerating Lamborghini ever produced, using a world-first hybrid supercapacitor powertrain, combining a 6.5-litre V12 engine with a 48-volt e-motor delivering a total of 819hp. The Sián accelerates from 0-62mph in just 2.8 seconds with a top speed of over 217 mph.

Unlike traditional lithium-ion battery storage, which can be heavy and slow to charge, the Sián uses a lightweight supercapacitor that is fully charged every time the vehicle brakes. With the entire e-motor and supercapacitor system weighing in at just 34kg, it's three times more powerful than a battery of the same weight and three times lighter than a battery storing the same power.

With its carbon-fiber monocoque, titanium intake valves, active aerodynamics and rear-wheel steering, the Sián employs cutting-edge technology everywhere—not only in the world's first supercapacitor hybrid system.

Each of the 63 Siáns will be individually styled by their owners in conjunction with Lamborghini's design centre and Ad Personam personalisation department and the first two Lamborghini London customers have opted for contrasting personalities. The lighter of the two is finished in a Grigio Nimbus with exposed carbon weave roof and Rosso Mars accents, complemented by a Nero Ade interior with Rosso Alala contrasts.

The darker Sián has been personalised with Nero Helene bodywork set off by exposed carbon fibre on the bonnet, front lamp inserts fenders and engine cover. Additional highlights are finished in Oro Electrum, which is also used within the alloy wheels, themselves set within bespoke Pirelli tyres, with white detailing. The interior mirrors the striking bodywork, with Nero Ade base leather and Oro Electrum stitching and highlights.

Lamborghini London is one of four H.R. Owen Lamborghini showrooms; London, Pangbourne, Manchester and Hatfield. Each delivers the world-class service and sales that are hallmarks of the Lamborghini and H.R. Owen brands. Lamborghini London has consistently been the UK's most successful Lamborghini showroom in terms of sales numbers since it opened in 1999.

80,000 INDIVIDUAL EXAMPLES OF THE CONTINENTAL GT

In 1952, the Bentley R-Type Continental made its debut; a Mulliner-bodied coupe with a top speed of just less than 120 mph. It was the fastest four-seater car in the world and very quickly earned a reputation as the ultimate in high-speed luxury.

In 2003, the Continental GT was launched – the first car of the modern Bentley era. Inspired by the R-Type, the first Continental GT established an entirely new market segment – the modern luxury Grand Tourer. Ever since, it has been the unchallenged benchmark for the sector that it founded, with an average of nearly 5,000 examples a year being delivered to customers around the world.

Today, eighteen years later, Bentley's skilled craftspeople – many of whom will have worked on the very first example of the Continental

GT (still owned by Bentley) – have handcrafted the 80,000th car. Over this period the style, technology and engineering beneath the car has evolved significantly, seeing an increase of up to 27 per cent in peak power, whilst models within the range have also achieved a reduction over the original Continental GT of 48 per cent in CO2 emissions.

Bentley's Chairman and Chief Executive, Adrian Hallmark, comments: "At its launch in 2003, Bentley redefined the modern grand tourer with the revolutionary Continental GT. Now in 2021, the GT continues to be the ultimate luxury grand tourer, encompassing the latest technology, performance and style. This success is a testament to the skills of our designers, engineers and craftspeople here in Crewe."

“I had the pleasure of launching the original GT in 2003 in my first stint at Bentley, and being here for the launch of the latest generation – and the iterations that have followed – has been a source of great pride for me personally. It will continue to be the iconic backbone of the Bentley business for years to come, even as we transition to the world’s leading provider of sustainable luxury mobility.”

The platform beneath the car was upgraded to a Bentley design for the third generation, allowing a totally new stance, proportions and levels of dynamic ability that raised the bar again. Wrapped in a totally new bodywork design, with sharper lines and more flowing surfaces, the Continental GT remains a stylish and thoroughly contemporary grand tourer.

A statement of true luxury, the third generation Continental GT represents the pinnacle of Bentley’s two-door design and engineering achievements. Effortlessly elegant and more sculpted and sharply defined, the body and materials combine to create truly breath-taking cars.

With a choice of powertrains, one of the most extensive colour palettes in the world and with almost limitless interior options, unique configurations can run into billions of variations. Indeed, there are currently a total of 17 billion ways in which a customer can specify a Continental GT. Beyond that, through the services of Bentley Mulliner – Bentley’s in-house bespoke division – the only limitation is the imagination of the customer. Owning a Continental GT guarantees both individuality and exclusivity, despite being part of a family now 80,000 strong.

The 80,000th vehicle is an eye catching Continental GT V8 in Orange Flame, finished with the optional Blackline Specification and Styling Specification, both adding to the car’s presence and hinting at the GT’s performance credentials.

A Family Gathering to Celebrate

To mark the production milestone, Bentley drew on its heritage fleet to show the evolution and achievements of the Continental GT since 2003.

Marking the car through its generations were:

- The very first production Continental GT, VIN 0001, still a taxed-and-tested car on Bentley’s fleet
- A Continental Supersports coupe, considered by many to be the pinnacle of the first generation GT family
- A second generation Continental GT V8 S coupe, finished in Jetstream
- From the current press fleet, a Dragon Red Continental GT Convertible

The Continental GT has also supported Bentley’s long tradition of racing and record breaking that started in the 1920s when the Bentley Boys set the pace at European circuits. In 1922, John Duff drove his Bentley 3 Litre single handed for 24 hours, at an average speed of almost 87 mph at Brooklands to secure 39 Class D records. And in 1928, another 3 Litre driven by Dudley Froy became the first car to achieve more than 115 mph over a distance of 100 miles at the same venue.

To mark recent achievements, the line-up was joined by some of the most exciting performance-focused Continental GTs:

- The first Ice Speed Record GT, driven by four-times World Rally Champion Juha Kankkunen, which smashed the world ice speed record in 2007, reaching an average speed of 199.86 mph (321.65 km/h) on frozen sea off the coast of Finland.
- The first-generation Continental GT3 racecar, that returned Bentley to winning ways on the racetrack in 2014 and secured victories on tracks all around the world
- The 2019 Pikes Peak GT, which still holds the Production Class record at the Pikes Peak International Hill Climb. Driven by three-time champion Rhys Millen, the car took 8.4 seconds off the previous record along the 12.42-mile course, climbing 5,000 ft through 156 bends in just 10 minutes, 18.4 seconds.
- The 2020 Ice Race GT, which took part in the GP Ice Race at Zell Am See in February last year on the same weekend that the final member of the line-up – the latest-generation Continental GT3 – won the Bathurst 12 Hour in Australia.

After 18 years and three generations, the Continental GT is still the quintessential grand tourer – phenomenally powerful, beautifully designed and exquisitely crafted.

GOODWOOD'S MOTORSPORT EVENT TICKETS GO ON SALE TO PUBLIC

Goodwood is delighted to announce that tickets for its three flagship motorsport events - the 78th Members' Meeting, the Festival of Speed presented by Mastercard, and the Revival – are now on sale at goodwood.com

Goodwood continues to work closely with Public Health England and UK Government advisory groups, and all the events will be run strictly in accordance with the Government's Covid-19 guidelines on social distancing in place at the time. Goodwood's number one priority is the safety and wellbeing of everyone involved, whether working behind-the-scenes, at the wheel, or attending the spectacle. Plans for ensuring this, while still maintaining the atmosphere and excitement that characterises Goodwood's events, are well advanced, and spectators will find even more to enjoy in 2021.

Such is the affection of motorsport fans towards Goodwood's events that many elected to carry their 2020 tickets forward to 2021. There has also been high demand for new purchases by Goodwood Road Racing Club members and the Fellowship, in their exclusive sales window over the last two weeks. Consequently, tickets for all three events are already in very short supply.

Where needed, Goodwood has reduced the number of people present on-site by an appropriate percentage to allow for social distancing, which will be regularly reviewed and adjusted in line with the latest official guidance, closer to the event. This is across all aspects of the event including enclosures, customers, suppliers, staff and technical teams.

Goodwood is looking forward to welcoming spectators back later this year, and wants customers to be able to book with confidence. The pandemic is an ever-changing situation, and if it is deemed that Goodwood events cannot take place on advice from the UK Government, the 'Ticket Guarantee' means customers can transfer their ticket to the following year or receive a full refund.

Rolled over tickets:

- Festival of Speed and Goodwood Revival customers who have rolled over their 2020 tickets to 2021, will receive new tickets ahead of the event. 2020 tickets will no longer be valid.
- Members' Meeting customers who rolled their tickets over from 2020 to 2021, will use their existing 2020 tickets, which will remain valid. New tickets will not be issued.
- Young Persons tickets will be honoured if the holder has turned 22 years old.

Those who have requested that their tickets be sent via post, should be aware that tickets can arrive up to five days before the event with Goodwood's post and signed for courier services. Customers whose contact details have changed since they first booked their tickets should contact Goodwood's Ticket Office on 01243 755055, to ensure that their new tickets are dispatched to the correct address.

Event dates:

- 78th Members' Meeting: Saturday 15th & Sunday 16th May 2021
- Festival of Speed: Thursday 8th – Sunday 11th July 2021
- Goodwood Revival: Friday 17th – Sunday 19th September 2021

CHANGING THE CHOCOLATE INDUSTRY FOR GOOD, ONE BITE AT A TIME

Leading female pastry chef, and her celebrity chef partner, launch premium chocolate brand with ethics at the core

Cartografie launches its first independent East London chocolate studio and online shop

Cartografie is a brand-new chocolate company with a conscience; not only does it produce Michelin-star quality handmade single origin chocolates, it also cares deeply about sustainability, biodiversity, and ethics.

Amidst the 2020 summer of Lockdown 1.0, Kae Shibata, ex-Pastry Chef at The Ritz, and Sven-Hanson Britt, Winner of Masterchef The Professionals – The Rematch 2019, found that the restaurant industry came to a grinding halt and they were both left without jobs.

With a passion for premium chocolate and a desire to change the industry for the better, they began sourcing the very best cocoa beans and produced boxes of beautifully handcrafted pralines and bon-bons and sold them through their social media platforms. Knowing too well the disastrous effects the chocolate industry has had on the environment and the people of the cocoa origin countries, they made it their mission to only source from ethically-minded suppliers who could guarantee a level of provenance and traceability that matched their ethos. They sold out every single batch and the positive feedback kept rolling in.

Daniela Nunzi-Mihranian, Founder and Executive Creative Director of the award-winning design agency Studio Minerva, tasted the products and spotted an opportunity to create a powerful brand with meaning. Daniela's unrivalled talent for creating 'purposeful and beautiful' design combined with Sven and Kae's world-class products, resulted in the co-creation of Cartografie – an ethical and premium chocolate brand.

As cartographers of taste, the team are producing exquisite chocolate stories for a truly transportive experience. They believe that 'what grows together, goes together' and are venturing to uncharted territories of taste, sourcing the finest ingredients from the 20 degrees either side of the equator where cocoa beans ripen.

They are also dedicated to fighting the existential crisis within the industry; every-day commodity chocolate on our supermarket shelves often has links with slavery, child labour and extortion and macro-environmental issues including deforestation and destruction of biodiversity of important cocoa growing ecosystems. Further to this, there is real risk to cocoa varieties losing the rare and unique flavours they contain because of choices to rip up heritage varieties in place of easier to grow or faster growing crops. Proudly a zero-food waste company, Cartografie is committed to encouraging biodiversity, supporting equality, eliminating food waste and drastically cutting down their carbon footprint through their recipes and actions. The founders pledge to limit their use of anything non-recyclable or biodegradable in their packaging, processing and shop, and consciously only work with farmers and suppliers who fit their ethos of food production.

Every Cartografie product is made by Kae and her team at their chocolate studio at London City Island, where people can witness the chocolate being handcrafted and purchase there and then, literally fresh from the expert chocolatiers. Unlike competitors, Cartografie's focus is not on bean to bar, instead they bring in a delicious, established, single-origin couverture and turn it into the perfect box of chocolates.

Their portfolio includes the Purity range; a selection of wafer-thin discs with a touch of sea salt made from their single origin couverture and their Cartografie range; a signature selection of filled handmade chocolates flavoured with their unique water based ganaches and caramels. Having access to the world's best couvertures means their flavours are as diverse and exciting as the various countries they source from.

Kae Shibata, Co-Founder and Master Chocolatier of Cartografie, says: "Our goal is to offer ethically minded consumers, who care about the provenance and sustainability of produce, the opportunity to enjoy beautiful and delicious chocolates that have a positive effect on all of the above issues. We're a family company and if we want to pass this planet onto our children then we need to leave it in a better way than when we found it."

Products can be purchased at www.cartografiechocolate.com or visit @cartografiechocolate on Instagram.

A gin that is infused with real gold that retails for £1200 a bottle

To celebrate this momentous 2020 Rolls-Royce Ghost launch 24 Carat Gin was commissioned to provide limited edition bottles to mark the special occasion. The one of a kind 24 Carat Gin Rolls Royce bottles were personalised and numbered. Distilled with 18 Oz gold and 24 Carat gold bars making it the smoothest gin on the market and the drink of choice for the luxury consumer. With this in mind customers buying the new Ghost will receive a bottle of 24 Carat Gin with their purchase, cementing 24 Carat's status as the Rolls-Royce of gins.

24 Carat Gin has no intention of being just another alcoholic beverage on sale; the purpose is to develop a complete sensory experience around the product, as well as to elevate it to the status of an opulent and exclusive lifestyle standard.

Some things cannot be bought with money. Love, passion or elegance are vital factors that motivate the lives of our consumers, and that is exactly what we want to deliver to them as a dilution of our gin. For sure, if you pay attention, among the pure liquid gold suspended in the bottle, you can notice reflections of the love and commitment that all our team puts in achieving a luxury experience that cannot be found in any other product.

We want to unleash a social phenomenon on the Internet, that everyone with a desire for elegance, success or reputation wants to be part of the select club of consumers of 24 Carat Gin.

"Our goal is clear: to revolutionise the luxury beverage market. We are not putting a golden drink on sale. We are going to offer a complete golden experience."

When you first unwrap a bottle of 24 Carat Gin, you can smell and feel the passion and devotion with which it has been carefully designed and manufactured. To polish every bottle we deliver to our customers, we need more than 120 hours of work and refinement.

This laborious process is carried out in a secret location in the United Kingdom, giving it our most refined British touch, accompanied by the supreme quality that is the fruit of the exquisite precision and exotic artistic inspiration with which our entire crew works.

24 Carat Gin has in its aromas a balanced mix of cardamom, anise seed, sarsaparilla, juniper, coriander, French lavender and two different kinds of orange peel. Once we have achieved the perfect combination in our workshop, they are positioned in nylon sacks and suspended in a pure, neutral grain spirit and stay in our tanks for 18 quiet hours in a maceration process under supervision.
