A popular HDTV digital antenna that consumers are selecting is the CeeVoo HDTV antenna. In this CeeVoo hdtv antenna review you will learn the ins and outs of this device that is worth considering if you're ready to switch away from cable TV.

CeeVoo Antenna Review

If you've read anything about the CeeVoo antenna then you're probably aware of the many claims about this device such as it's America's most advanced HDTV antenna. Other big buying claims is it has a 65 mile range and can access over 100 channels. The average antenna can only reach between 15 to 35 channels depending on your location and how close you are to the TV towers.

Like with any other hdtv antenna the primary idea is to convince consumers to get rid of their cable which is a great idea and because you're not getting the best bang for your buck. Most of the time you're watching the same channels over and over again with your cable provider so condense all of those channels by purchasing an hdtv antenna.

You only make a one-time purchase with an hdtv antenna and continually receive unlimited free TV. All of your channels will also be in high definition which you will love even more. In this CeeVoo digital antenna review you will learn certain details about the CeeVoo and how it compares with other antennas.

How Does The CeeVoo Digital Antenna Work

Like most digital antennas the CeeVoo is a black flat rectangular square that has a coaxial cable that plugs into the back of your television. After it is properly plugged in the antenna can be placed on your wall and plugged into an outlet. This entire process takes about 2 minutes and is very simple for anyone to do.

The biggest issue you may have with the CeeVoo HDTV digital antenna is possibly moving it around to locate the best signal. You will have to manually adjust where it needs to go to see how many channels it will receive and the clarity of the incoming channels.

Some people recommend if you position the antenna near a window it will pick up more channels but it depends on your location.

After you have found the right positioning for the antenna the next step is to turn on your TV, go to your Settings menu, and perform an Autoscan. This will identify all the channels that can be picked up and saved for viewing. That's all there is to this.

CeeVoo HDTV Antenna Scam??

The most popular way for consumers to cut the cord is through digital antennas. The CeeVoo works just like any other hdtv digital antenna. You will receive free local channels from major networks such as NBC, ABC, Fox, and CBS.

The idea that you will receive over 100 channels depends on your location and other factors. You also should know premium cable TV channels are not included in the deal. Those channels are not available through an hdtv antenna.

CeeVoo is not a scam and functions just like any other digital antenna. It may not live up to all of its claims but it is a good option for cutting the cord.
