(ASSASSINATIONS)
(BY GENE BERNHARDT)

WASHINGTON (UPI) - THE HOUSE ASSASSINATION COMMITTEE WON FULL HOUSE APPROVAL THURSDAY OF A $2.5 MILLION BUDGET TO CONTINUE ITS INVESTIGATION INTO THE KILLINGS OF JOHN F. KENNEDY AND MARTIN LUTHER KING JR.

THE HOUSE VOTED 213-192 TO ADOPT THE BUDGET FOR THE COMMITTEE'S WORK THROUGH THIS YEAR, BUT ONLY AFTER THE PANEL CAME UNDER HEAVY CRITICISM.

"I WOULD HOPE WE COULD END THIS UNNECESSARY, WASTEFUL, COUNTERPRODUCTIVE EFFORT. THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT SHOULD DO THE INVESTIGATING IF THAT IS NECESSARY," SAID REP. ROBERT BAUMAN, D-MD.

REP. JOHN DENT, D-PA., MANAGER OF THE FUNDING RESOLUTION, DEFENDED THE PANEL AND SAID "WE MUST PUT TO REST THE SURMISES, SURPRISES, GUESSES AND WISHES OF THOSE WHO WANT TO KEEP THE KETTLE BOILING" OVER WHETHER THERE WERE CONSPIRACIES IN THE TWO KILLINGS.

BAUMAN CRITICIZED DEL. WALTER FAUNTROY OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, A MEMBER OF THE ASSASSINATION PANEL, FOR HIS COMMENTS THAT REPORTERS COVERING THE PANEL SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED TO DETERMINE WHETHER THEY ARE WORKING FOR THE CIA IN AN EFFORT TO DISCREDIT THE INVESTIGATION.

"THE COMMITTEE HAS NO PLANS TO CALL REPORTERS TO PROBE THEIR COVERAGE," SAID FAUNTROY. "I DO HAVE A PERSONAL INTEREST IN FINDING OUT WHETHER CERTAIN NEWS REPORTERS HAVE ANOTHER PURPOSE OTHER THAN DISSEMINATION OF THE NEWS TO THE PUBLIC."

FAUNTROY CITED A 1973 STORY IN THE WASHINGTON STAR-NEWS REPORTING THE CIA "HAD SOME 40 JOURNALISTS AS UNDERCOVER CONTACTS."

"ONE OF THOSE IDENTIFIED HAS BEEN ASSIGNED TO COVER OUR COMMITTEE. I WANT TO KNOW IF ANY OF THE OTHER 39 ARE COVERING OUR COMMITTEE," SAID FAUNTROY.

THE JOURNALIST CITED BY FAUNTROY WAS JEREMIAH O'LEARY, A REPORTER FOR THE STAR. THE NEWSPAPER SAID HE WAS NOT PAID BY THE CIA BUT ONLY PASSED ON INFORMATION HE PICKED UP DURING FOREIGN ASSIGNMENTS. O'LEARY IS PRESENTLY RECOVERING IN HOSPITAL FROM A HEART ATTACK.

Hunt Says CIA Ordered '64 Spying on Goldwater

E. Howard Hunt Jr. has told Senate Watergate investigators he directed a small-scale surveillance of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., during the 1964 presidential campaign on instructions from his superiors at the Central Intelligence Agency.

Sources said Hunt implied the orders for the spying operation on Goldwater's Washington campaign headquarters "had come down from the White House." He indicated that at least one of his superiors was stationed at the White House, the sources said.

HUNT, NOW serving a 2½- to 8-year prison term for his role in the Watergate burglary, revealed the Goldwater surveillance during an interview Monday with Republican staff members of the Watergate committee, who have been probing the CIA role in the burglary and bugging of Democratic National Committee Headquarters.

"It was only discussed for a minute or two," one source said.

Hunt told the investigators he did not participate in the spying operation itself, but rather — on orders from his CIA superiors — "dispatched a couple of people to the Goldwater headquarters to see what was going on."

Goldwater that year opposed President Lyndon Johnson and lost the election in a landslide. Goldwater has maintained he was the object of a spying effort similar to the one carried out at the Watergate.

AT THE TIME, the sources said, Hunt was in charge of a downtown Washington office for the CIA.

A SPOKESMAN for the CIA declined to comment on the reported accounts of Hunt's testimony.

Hunt served with the CIA 20 years before quitting to go to work for a Washington public relations firm and later to take on an assignment for the White House, including membership in a group known as "the plumbers," assigned to try to stop leaks of classified information.

Sources said Hunt gave the investigators the names of his former CIA superiors who allegedly ordered the surveillance, but no decision has been made yet on whether they will be questioned.

If Hunt's information is correct, the sources said, the CIA would have been violating a law forbidding it to conduct domestic operations.

"It's kind of up in the air right now," one source said, noting that the Senate panel's mandate is limited to matters relating to the 1972 presidential campaign.

"This is very interesting and important, but we're not going to try to squeeze every last ounce out of it," one minority staff aide said.

Hunt Says He Spied on Goldwater on Orders of LBJ

Hunt Tells Senate Panel He Spied On Goldwater in '64 on LBJ Order

By Lawrence Meyer and John Hanrahan
Washington Post Staff Writers

Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. has told the staff of the Senate select Watergate committee that he conducted surveillance of Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) during the 1964 Presidential campaign at the order of President Lyndon B. Johnson, according to informed sources.

The exact nature and duration of Hunt's activities were not revealed, but Goldwater, an amateur dabbler in electronics, said yesterday that he had no indication that the surveillance involved electronic eavesdropping.

Another source said that Hunt was not certain of the dates of the surveillance, although he told the committee staff it began well before Goldwater's presidential nomination at the 1964 Republican Convention and lasted until after his overwhelming election defeat that November.

Hunt said he undertook the surveillance with a team of operatives, under directions from Mr. Johnson through an intermediary, according to the source, who declined to say who Hunt named as the intermediary.

Goldwater, who declined to give the source of his information, said he had been told in the past two or three days that Hunt and a team that "could have been as many as 30 people not just working on me but working on other people, too" operated out of offices in "downtown" Washington.

Although Goldwater said he could not be certain of the group's name, he thought it was "domestic investigations." Goldwater said he did not know the names of the other people under surveillance.

Goldwater said he had the impression that Hunt and the others involved in the operation were "on leave" from the CIA (where Hunt was supposed to be working at the time). "If I had to guess, I would guess that they didn't want it traced back to the CIA," Goldwater said.

"I knew 10 years ago what was going on," Goldwater said, asserting that friends in the CIA and the FBI had told him then that he was under surveillance by both agencies. Goldwater said he had "no idea" what the investigation involved since he had no indication that it delved into his private life, financial affairs, "home life or anything like that."

Goldwater said he learned only two or three days ago of Hunt's professed involvement. "I don't even know the man," Goldwater said.

Attempts were made last night to reach several aides to President Johnson in 1964, but only two could be reached.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, a White House aide in 1964 and later chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said he had never heard of Hunt at the time and, "Honestly, I never heard of such a thing," he added, referring to Hunt's reported testimony.

CIA Apparently Drops Effort to Sell Airline Under CAB Authority

End of 13 Years' Secret Holding Likely After Decertification
Of Southern Air Transport

By a WALL STREET JOURNAL Staff Reporter

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency apparently has given up its effort to sell under Civil Aeronautics Board authority a certificated U.S. charter airline. It is understood to have secretly owned for the past 13 years. Instead, according to sources close to the case, the CIA probably will complete the proposed sale after the carrier is removed from CAB jurisdiction.

This development came to light as the carrier, Miami-based Southern Air Transport, and its president, Stanley G. Williams, formally asked the CAB to allow them to withdraw their joint application for purchase of Southern by Mr. Williams. Although the CAB held secret hearings on the control case last June, it was reported last August that sufficient evidence existed on the public record to indicate the CIA was the true seller of the airline.

In a separate filing, Southern also petitioned the CAB for cancellation of all its certificates granted by the board and termination of all its CAB exemption authority to provide services that aren't covered by general operating certificates. Southern said it would phase out all its operations conducted under CAB authority by Dec. 31 if the request is granted.

Contract Status Sought

Southern said it would then continue to operate as a "large commercial" air service on a noncertificated basis. In this status, it could provide passenger and cargo transportation under bona fide individual contracts but no longer would be able to furnish flights as a common carrier serving the public under published tariffs.

That status would also enable a transfer of control without CAB involvement. "You can be sure that this means Southern's going to buy back its airline one way or another," said one source close to the airline.

Executive Sessions Planned

A number of competing supplemental, or charter, airlines and several major trunk carriers had challenged the legality of the proposed sale and raised questions about the CIA role in Southern. They contended that control of Southern by the CIA if true, was illegal because of prohibitions against government ownership of U.S. airlines; that awards to Southern of operating certificates while it was under CIA control were illegal and that sale of the airline by the government was illegal.

Despite requirements that the CAB conduct public hearings on control cases involving airlines it regulates, CAB Administrative Law Judge Milton Shapiro granted requests from attorneys representing Southern and, allegedly, the CIA that the hearings on the application be held in executive session with all participants sworn to secrecy.

An inquiry on whether transcripts of the hearing will be released, if Southern's withdrawal motion is granted, was referred by a CAB spokesman to Mr. Shapiro, who couldn't be reached immediately.

Southern's actions will permit the CAB "to get off the hook in a ticklish situation," one source said yesterday. Mr. Shapiro hadn't yet issued a recommended decision on the control application, which was filed last March. The usual time span within which such a decision would have been issued has passed, the source commented. The law judge's decision would have been subject to review by the full board.

23) Special Access Programs are used to secure the most sensitive information the government produces.

#Qanon

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Special_access_program

Special access program

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Special access programs (SAPs) in the U.S. Federal Government are security protocols that provide highly classified information with safeguards and access restrictions that exceed those for regular (collateral) classified information. SAPs can range from black projects to routine but especially-sensitive operations, such as COMSEC maintenance or Presidential transportation support. In addition to collateral controls, a SAP may impose more stringent investigative or adjudicative requirements, specialized nondisclosure agreements, special terminology or markings, exclusion from standard contract investigations (carve-outs), and centralized billet systems.^[1] Within the Department of Defense, SAP is better known as "SAR" by the mandatory Special Access Required (SAR) markings.

Categories [edit]

There are three categories of SAPs within the Department of Defense:^[5]

- Acquisition SAPs (AQ-SAPs), which protect the "research, development, testing, modification, and evaluation or procurement" of new systems;
- Intelligence SAPs (IN-SAPs), which protect the "planning and execution of especially sensitive intelligence or CI units or operations";
- Operations and Support SAPs (OS-SAPs), which protect the "planning, execution, and support" of sensitive military activities.

Only the Director of National Intelligence may create IN-SAPs. Sensitive Compartmented Information (SCI) control systems may be the most well-known intelligence SAPs. The treatment of SCI is singular among SAPs, and it seems there is some disagreement within the government as to whether or not SCI is a SAP. Defense Department sources usually state that it is,^[6] and at least one publication refers to a separate SCI-SAP category alongside the three listed above.^[7] The Intelligence Community, drawing on the DNI's statutory responsibility to protect intelligence sources and methods, finds a legal basis for SCI separate from that of SAPs, and consequently consider SCI and SAPs separate instances of the more general controlled access program.^[8]

<https://pbs.twimg.com/media/DWu7YDnUjMAE1Nrc.jpg>

Involved individuals [edit]

SAP access ergo policy on classified security categories de facto is understood informally as described as those who need to know have access, access is "on a need to know basis".^[14] A SAP can only be initiated, modified, and terminated within their department or agency; the Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense, Secretary of Energy, Secretary of Homeland Security, the Attorney General, the Director of National Intelligence; their principal deputies (e.g. the Deputy Secretary of State in DoS and the Deputy Secretary of Defense in DoD); or others designated in writing by the President.^[15] These offices are better known as 'classification authorities.' They retain the right to declassify or revise classification levels.

The U.S. Secretary of Defense is obliged to submit a report, submitted not later than the 1st of March for each year, to the defense committee on special access programs.^[16]

Examples [edit]

The following national or international SAPs, unless otherwise noted, are identified in 32 CFR 154.17:

- Sensitive Compartmented Information (SCI), national intelligence information concerning sources and methods which is protected by control systems defined by the Director of National Intelligence. Note that SCI markings are separate from those of other SAPs.
- Single Integrated Operational Plan-Extremely Sensitive Information (SIOP-ESI, replaced by NC2-ESI), the national plan for nuclear war. Note that SIOP-ESI was listed among non-IC dissemination control markings on classified documents, not with other SAPs.
- Presidential support activities
- Nuclear Weapon Personnel Reliability Program
- Chemical Personnel Reliability Program^[17]
- Access to North Atlantic Treaty Organization classified information at the staff level

24) SAPs include things like troop placement and battle plans.

Carl Bernstein

Co-Winner of the 1973 Pulitzer Prize for Public Service

After leaving The Washington Post in 1977, Carl Bernstein spent six months looking at the relationship of the CIA and the press during the Cold War years. His 25,000-word cover story, published in Rolling Stone on October 20, 1977, is reprinted below.

THE CIA AND THE MEDIA

How America's Most Powerful News Media Worked Hand in Glove with the Central Intelligence Agency and Why the Church Committee Covered It Up

BY CARL BERNSTEIN

In 1953, Joseph Alsop, then one of America's leading syndicated columnists, went to the Philippines to cover an election. He did not go because he was asked to do so by his syndicate. He did not go because he was asked to do so by the newspapers that printed his column. He went at the request of the CIA.

Alsop is one of more than 400 American journalists who in the past twenty-five years have secretly carried out assignments for the Central Intelligence Agency, according to documents on file at CIA headquarters. Some of these journalists' relationships with the Agency were tacit; some were explicit. There was cooperation, accommodation and overlap. Journalists provided a full range of clandestine services—from simple intelligence gathering to serving as go-betweens with spies in Communist countries. Reporters shared their notebooks with the CIA. Editors shared their staffs. Some of the journalists were Pulitzer Prize winners, distinguished reporters who considered themselves ambassadors without portfolio for their country. Most were less exalted: foreign correspondents who found that their association with the Agency helped their work; stringers and freelancers who were as interested in the derring-do of the spy business as in filing articles; and, the smallest category, full-time CIA employees masquerading as journalists abroad. In many instances, CIA documents show, journalists were engaged to perform tasks for the CIA with the consent of the managements of America's leading news organizations.

The history of the CIA's involvement with the American press continues to be shrouded by an official policy of obfuscation and deception for the following principal reasons:

- The use of journalists has been among the most productive means of intelligence-gathering employed by the CIA. Although the Agency has cut back sharply on the use of reporters since 1973 primarily as a result of pressure from the media, some journalist-operatives are still posted abroad.
- Further investigation into the matter, CIA officials say, would inevitably reveal a series of embarrassing relationships in the 1950s and 1960s with some of the most powerful organizations and individuals in American journalism.

WORKING PRESS — CIA STYLE

To understand the role of most journalist-operatives, it is necessary to dismiss some myths about undercover work for American intelligence services. Few American agents are "spies" in the popularly accepted sense of the term. "Spying" — the acquisition of secrets from a foreign government—is almost always done by foreign nationals who have been recruited by the CIA and are under CIA control in their own countries. Thus the primary role of an American working undercover abroad is

A Courant review has found that since the 2012 Sandy Hook school shooting, the federal government has given the town of Newtown and several agencies just more than $17 million in aid that has been used primarily to enhance mental health services and school security.

Most of the money has gone into a wide variety of mental health and security needs, many of which are designed to address the broader impact on the community for many years to come. Grants from the U.S. Department of Education totaling $6.4 million have been used to hire teachers, mental-health practitioners, security guards and other personnel for the school system.

Stanislav Lunev

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Stanislav Lunev (Russian: Станислав Лунев; born 1946 in Leningrad) is a former Soviet military officer, the highest-ranking GRU officer to defect from Russia to the United States.

Biography [edit]

He was born in the family of a Soviet Army officer. He graduated from the Suvorov Military School in Vladikavkaz, and then from Joint Arms High Command Military Academy.^[1] He then worked as a GRU intelligence officer in Singapore in 1978, in China from 1980, and in the United States from 1988. He defected to U.S. authorities in 1992. Since then he has worked as a consultant to the FBI and the CIA.^[2] As of 2000, he remained in the FBI's Witness Protection Program.^[3]

Nuclear sabotage operations [edit]

Lunev is mostly known for his description of nuclear sabotage operations that have allegedly been prepared by the KGB and GRU against the western countries. It was known from other sources that large arms caches were hidden by the KGB in many countries for these planned activities. They were booby-trapped with "Lightning" explosive devices. One of such cache, which was identified by Vasili Mitrokhin, exploded when Swiss authorities tried to remove it from woods near Bern. Several others caches were removed successfully.^[5]

Lunev asserted that some of the hidden caches could contain portable tactical nuclear weapons known as RA-115 "suitcase bombs". Such bombs have been prepared to assassinate US leaders in the event of war, according to him.^[6] Lunev states that he had personally looked for hiding places for weapons caches in the Shenandoah Valley area^[1] and that "it is surprisingly easy to smuggle nuclear weapons into the US, either across the Mexican border or using a small transport missile that can slip undetected when launched from a Russian airplane."^[1]

US Congressman Curt Weldon supported claims by Lunev but noted that Lunev had "exaggerated things", according to the FBI.^[7] Searches of the areas identified by Lunev — who admits he never planted any weapons in the US — have been conducted, "but law-enforcement officials have never found such weapons caches, with or without portable nuclear weapons."^[8]

Poisoning of Potomac River [edit]

According to Lunev, a probable scenario in the event of war would have been poisoning the Potomac River with chemical or biological weapons, "targeting the residents of Washington, D.C."^[1] He also considered it "likely" that GRU operatives placed "poison supplies near the tributaries to major US reservoirs."^[9] These allegations have been confirmed by former SVR officer Kouzminov ^[10] who was responsible for transporting pathogens from around the world for Russian program of biological weapons in the 1980s and the beginning of the 1990s. He described a variety of biological warfare acts that would be carried out on the order of the Russian President in the event of hostilities, including poisoning public drinking-water supplies and food processing plants.^[11]

53) The big question: What is #Qanon getting at with the reference to Stanislav Lunev and the BRIDGE?

Here's my guess: Lunev is a spy who defected to the U.S. Q has been telling us about spies and their agencies for the last few weeks, including Edward Snowden.

54) Snowden fled (defected) to Russia after \ leaking information on the NSA to the press. For months, #Qanon has been asking Snowden about the weather in Russia but on the 18th he observed that Snowden is no longer there.

56) How would the U.S. extradite Snowden?

We wouldn't.

The usual method for getting a spy back from Russia is exchanging them for another spy. We would get Snowden. Russia would get one of their spies back.

Bridge of Spies (film)

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Bridge of Spies is a 2015 historical drama legal thriller film directed and co-produced by Steven Spielberg, written by Matt Charman, Ethan and Joel Coen and stars Tom Hanks, Mark Rylance, Amy Ryan, and Alan Alda. Set during the Cold War, the film tells the story of lawyer James B. Donovan, who is entrusted with negotiating the release of Francis Gary Powers—a U.S. Air Force pilot whose U-2 spy plane was shot down over the Soviet Union in 1960—in exchange for Rudolf Abel, a convicted Soviet KGB spy held under the custody of the United States, whom he represented at trial. The name of the film refers to the Glienicke Bridge, which connects Potsdam with Berlin, where the prisoner exchange took place. The film was an international co-production of the United States and Germany.^[6]

Bridge of Spies was shot under the working title of St. James Place. Principal photography began on September 8, 2014, in Brooklyn, New York City, and the production proceeded at Babelsberg Studios in Potsdam. The film was released by Touchstone Pictures on October 16, 2015, in the United States and distributed by 20th Century Fox in other countries.^[7] It was a box office success, grossing $165 million worldwide, and was praised for its screenplay, Hanks and Rylance's performances, Spielberg's direction, musical score, and production merits. The film received six Academy Award nominations including Best Picture and Best Original Screenplay, and won Best Supporting Actor for Rylance.

58) It just a guess, but this could be the meaning of #Qanon's reference to "the bridge." (I'm not sure how it would be "payback" for something that happened on Friday.)

FYI - Snowden has become an irritation to Putin since he's been there.

59) The title of this article, "Snowden is Turning into a Liability for Putin" could explain #Qanon's reference to Snowden becoming a liability.

62) If this is what #Qanon was referring to, what's the connection?

How is an 8-year-old biography on President Obama relevant to the current discussion?

63) #Qanon often posts the term DELTA which can have different meanings, depending on the context.

64) The term Delta is used in both math and science. It represents the change or difference in an equation or experiment. #Qanon

Uppercase delta has two different mathematical meanings. Both meanings begin with the letter D just like the Greek letter, which should help you remember them: Difference is the most common meaning of the uppercase delta. It is simply the difference, or change, in a certain quantity.

$$\Delta y = y_2 - y_1$$

$$\Delta x = x_2 - x_1$$

65) Delta also has a military application. It's part of the phonetic alphabet and it's an indicator of the level of threat. The scale for the level of threat is called Threatcon. It has four levels. Delta is the most severe.

What are the military's different threat levels?

The United States has four threat levels above 'normal' for military installations: Alpha, Brave, Charlie and Delta.

What are the military's different threat levels?

News Staff

Updated 1:21 p.m Friday, May 8, 2015 Filed in Military

The United States has four threat levels above "normal" for military installations. Wright-Patterson Air Force Base and other bases around the country went from Threatcon Alpha, the lowest level, to Bravo, the next highest level. Here's an explanation of each level:

THREATCON ALPHA: (Threat level low) This condition applies when there is a general threat of possible terrorist activity against personnel and facilities, the nature and extent of which are unpredictable, and circumstances do not justify full implementation of THREATCON BRAVO measures. However, it may be necessary to implement certain measures from higher THREATCONS resulting from intelligence received or as a deterrent. The measures in this THREATCON must be capable of being maintained indefinitely.

THREATCON BRAVO: (Threat level medium) This condition applies when an increased and more predictable threat of terrorist activity exists. The measures in this THREATCON must be capable of being maintained for weeks without causing undue hardship, affecting operational capability, and aggravating relations with local authorities.

THREATCON CHARLIE: (Threat level high) This condition applies when an incident occurs or intelligence is received indicating some form of terrorist action against personnel and facilities is imminent. Implementation of measures in this THREATCON for more than a short period probably will create hardship and affect the peacetime activities of the unit and its personnel.

THREATCON DELTA: (Threat level critical) This condition applies in the immediate area where a terrorist attack has occurred or when intelligence has been received that terrorist action against a specific location or person is likely. Normally, this THREATCON is declared as a localized condition. See also antiterrorism.

<https://pbs.twimg.com/media/DW5sk6yYwAAfNlt.jpg>

66) In the example above, the term Delta is used and the number 6 which is in brackets: DELTA [6] CONF.

My assumption is that in this instance, Delta is not a reference to threatcon but is indicating D-6, which refers to some component of #Qanon's communication protocol.
