

THE WOMEN'S GIVING CIRCLE

Female funders supporting the next generation of female founders

The Women's Giving Circle is a collective of women supporting women. We believe in evening the playing field for the world's brightest leaders to help their ideas become the reality we strive for: a more equitable, just society. We do this by pledging our time, expertise and capital as Giving Circle members. These resources are pooled together to sponsor Global Good Fund female fellows.

Why Join the Giving Circle?

AMPLIFIED IMPACT

Giving together means that each member's gift creates greater impact.

NETWORK

Members join a community of philanthropic executives, each of whom supports and builds on one another's expertise and experience.

EDUCATION

Members learn about effective philanthropy and social entrepreneurship by interviewing and helping to select the next class of Global Good Fund Fellows.

EMPOWERMENT

Inspire fellow women entrepreneurs and executives to change the world alongside of you.

How Could Members Engage?

POOLED FUNDING

Contribute an annual donation to the Giving Circle. All funds are pooled in December and distributed to support the next year's Global Good Fund Fellows.

CANDIDATE INTERVIEWS

Contribute to Fellow selection by interviewing applicants and voting on top candidates.

NETWORKING

Attend Giving Circle networking events with fellow philanthropists, investors and business leaders.

SUMMIT & GALA

Join us at the Global Good Fund's annual spring Summit & Gala, our biggest event of the year where we host, honor, and celebrate our social entrepreneurs and their global impact.

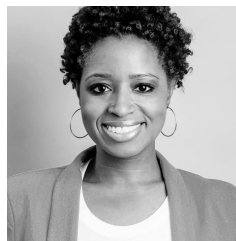

Who Do Members Support?

ANDREA ESCOBAR-HOYOS
Co-founder + ED, SoyDoy

Sector: Health

Andrea Escobar is the Co-Founder and Executive Director of SoyDoy, which works with at-risk families in Colombia to improve the nutritional well-being of children. They have directly impacted over 3,000 children across Colombia.

MAKEDA RICKETTS
Founder + CEO, PinkThink

Sector: Women + Girls Empowerment

Makeda Ricketts is the Founder and CEO of PinkThink, a for profit social enterprise that strives to provide girls with access to the technology and innovative tools that are necessary for their growth and advancement.