HOLISTIC THERAPY & ANIMAL COMMUNICATION

ABOUT LEAH DIETZEN

Leah is an animal communicator, pranic healer, and behavioral specialist. She holds a Veterinary Assistant's degree and received specialized training for guard dogs and aggressive animals. Leah studied Animal Behavior & Neuropsychology at the University of Washington before a car accident took her on an alternate path. A near-death experience opened new realms of spiritual and intuitive abilities. She has over 11 years experience studying and training with master teachers in spirituality, energy medicine, and pranic healing from all over the world. Leah currently resides in the Sacred Valley, Peru and works with clients and their beloved pets remotely.

My session with Leah was invaluable when my dog was sick. I am so grateful for her compassionate care and ability to help me understand how to best support my pet.

CASE STUDIES

CHLOE

Chloe was a rescue presenting with aggression and anxiety. Leah identified how her owner's language and correctional approach was unintentionally creating emotional triggers and imbalances for Chloe. Leah also uncovered how both owner and Chloe were mirroring past trauma, exasperating the anxiety. Leah facilitated pranic healing for both, and instructed her owner on behavioral training cues including the most effective tone, language and posture for Chloe. Chloe is now more calm and relaxed, and they both have the tools needed for a harmonious relationship.

SAMMY

Sammy was an older dog with Cushing's Disease. His time was limited, so his owner wanted to support his comfort prior to transition. Leah also identified an unknown correlation between Sammy's symptoms and a medical issue with his owner. She facilitated pranic healing for both, and became a bridge for Sammy and his owner to communicate, helping her to be at peace, and for Sammy to be as comfortable as possible during his final precious days.
