Bringing Clarity, Coordination, and Confidence to Complex Projects

Transforming Construction Through Digital Insight
Mitosis Digital Technologies is a UK-based consultancy specialising in digital construction and data assurance for the energy industry. Drawing on more than five decades of combined design and construction experience, our team helps oil and gas operators plan, visualise, and deliver projects with precision and confidence.

4D Planning Brings Clarity and Confidence

Our expertise lies in 4D construction visualisation, combining 3D engineering models with the project schedule to create a time-based simulation of how the work will unfold. This approach enables teams to rehearse operations before execution, improving safety, reducing risk, and driving efficiency across every phase of project delivery.

Visualise. Validate. Optimise.
